BROWN TO BE BROUGHT HERE

RETURNED TO PRISON

Captured Bandit Will Be Placed in Penitentiary Hospital to Await His Recovery and Trial On Attempted Murder Charge.

HYERS AND FENTON IN CHARGE OF PRISONER

Wounded Chain Man Will Make Trip From Wyoming On a Stretcher—Arrives In Lincoln Wednesday Morning.

Fred Brown's old cronies at the Nebraska penitentiary will welcome him back to their midst on Wednesday morning, when he is to arrive here from Rawlins, Wyo., in custody of Warden Fenton and State Sheriff Gus Hyers. Brown's condition is such that he can safely be transported on a stretcher, despite the wound he received preceding his capture last Saturday north of Medicine Bow, Wyo.

Warden Fenton left Saturday night for Rawlins, and he and Hyers will leave there with the prisoner on a Union Pacific train at 9 a. m., Tuesday. Reaching Fremont at 6 a. m., Wednesday, they will transfer Brown to a Northwestern train and bring him to Lincoln, arriving here at 8 45 a. m.

The captured fugitive will be placed in the penitentiary hospital to await his recovery and trial on the charge of shooting at Assistant Probation Officer Walter Schroeder with murderous intent, during the hunt for him in Lincoln two weeks ago. If found guilty of this offense, he will be subject to prison term of one to twenty years

Physician O. K.'s Removal.

Before it was decided to move Brown, or Bush as he is known in Wyoming, in his wounded condition Finance Secretary Phil Bross, acting for Governor McKelvie in the latter's absence, asked for a written certificate from the penitentiary physician at Rawlins, where the ex-convict is being temporarily cared for.

In response to this request, the following message came from Rawlins on Sunday

Governor Samuel R McKelvie, Lincoln. Examination of Jim Bush today shows improvement and I have given instructions to your Sate Sheriff, Mr. Hyers, that he may take him home Monday night without danger The wound was just above and to the left of the heart. Today Jim told me that about fifteen years ago he lived around Medicine Bow where he went by the name of Ernest Bush and told me he intended camping around his old stamping ground for at least three weeks.

"DR. E. A. KELL,
"Physician in charge at the state prison."

Walter Schroeder, who accompanied State Sheriff Hyers to Wyoming in the pursuit of Bush or Brown, returned Sunday to Lincoln without seeing the prisoner. Schroeder was in charge of a party watching one of the trails twenty or twenty-five miles from where the Nebraska desperado was apprehended.

Had he not got stuck in the mud and been overtaken where he was by the other posse. Brown would have passed the point where Schroeder's group was stationed. The latter party had taken up its position at midnight Friday and waited there till Saturday morning. Brown was headed directly toward it on the only trail running through that part of the country.

"I was assigned to go to Douglas, Wyo., and work from there," Mr. Schroeder said, describing his experience. "Douglas is on the Northwestern line eighty or a hundred miles north of the Union Pacific, which runs through Cheyenne, Medicine Bow and Rawlins. Brown had left Medicine Bow, traveling north in a Nash car stolen at Denver. It was thought he might try to reach Douglas, Glenrock or Casper, on the Northwestern.

Took An Obscure Trail

"Either through his knowledge of the country or from information he got along the route, he left the Laparel trail, which is the main one into Douglas, and branched off on

Body of Unknown Man Is Found In Yard at Chicago

CHICAGO, June 19.—A well dressed man, apparently about 50, was found dead early today in the yard in the rear of the home of Miss Mary Vestula on the southwest side. Finger marks on his throat and other circumstnces convinced the police he had been robbed and murdered. A slip of paper, bearing the name "William McLaughlin, 2154 Southwestern Avenue" was found in his clothing. In his straw hat were the initials "J. E. S." These and a railroad ticket from Chicago to Des Moines and a baggage ticket from Albany, N. Y., to Des Moines are the only clews obtained by the police so far.

The body was found by Miss Vestula as she was passing through the yard on her way to work.

COLE IN OMAHA

Paroled Convict, Who Stole Automobile, Visits Metropolis and Then Decamps—Believed to Be Heading for Minneapolis.

W T. Cole, paroled convict, who Friday departed with a Ford sedan stolen from the Motor Out company, 1120 P street, seems to be striving diligently to imitate tactics of one Fred Brown, who kept three states in a turmoil before he was run to ground, according to messages received Monday from Omaha.

Cole, according to the reports from Omaha, appeared in Omaha Friday afternoon, with a Lincoln woman in the car, deserted the woman there, taking her grip along with him, and hit again for the high spots in the stolen car He has not even bothered to change the numbers on his car, according to the report reaching the Lancaster county sheriff's office Monday.

The report from Omaha to Deputy Sheriff Cecil Ward stated that Cole had been seen at the Warters' Union, 118 South Fourteenth street, at 1:30 p. m. Friday, and that later he was supposed to have visited a friend. According to report, Cole took a Lincoln girl to Omaha, where she was going to secure custody of a little girl and bring her back to Lincoln. Cole was to drive them back. Instead of meeting the girl again, after he left her where the child lived, Cole is alleged to have left, taking with him, the girl's suitcase containing her clothing and other valuables.

Omaha police officers believe that Cole is headed toward Minneapolis, where he is known to have a sweetheart. The officers have notified sheriffs between Omaha and Minneapolis to be on the lookout for the car.

H. L. Britt, of the Motor Out company Monday stated that a reward of $25 will be paid for information leading to the recovery of the stolen car. Mr. Britt also stated that Cole gave him a bad check for $25, Friday, on the Central National bank

"Although we are interested in the man," Bert Anderson of state reformatory declared Monday noon, "it is entirely up to Mr. Harmon to get the man. Of course we are always ready to co-operate with Mr. Harmon."

Mr. Harmon when interviewed, Monday afternoon, declared that, "we've just got back from the Brown chase, and haven't quite got squared around yet. But a systematic search for Cole will be inaugurated at once."

It is believed that as soon as State Sheriff Gus Hyers returns to Lincoln, he will give his personal attention to the Cole chase.

NINETY KICKS ON 1922 ASSESSMENT

Board of Equalization Considers Protests and Views Properties.

Half a Dozen Banks in Lancaster County Have Filed Complaints.

Between eighty and ninety protests against 1922 assessments of real estate and personal property in Lancaster county were filed with County assessor J. A. Sheffield. The county board of equalization met Monday to consider the protests and view the properties. Twenty-two complaints were filed against assessment of Lincoln personal properties, and the same number were filed against assessments of Lincoln real estate. Fifty-five protests were filed against assessments of village and rural district real estate and personal property. None of the eighty or ninety protests involved large assessments.

About a half dozen Lancaster county banks have filed protests of their assessment with their schedules and Assessor Sheffield said he supposed the other banking institutions would rely upon the outcome of those which had been complained of. The banks object to assessing their convention If they convince labor other intangible personal property was assessed at one-fourth actual valuation.

Several protests have also been filed with schedules of assessments of stock in non-resident corporations.

SEEKING CHANGES IN EXPRESS RATES

Rail Commission Asked to Pass on Classification of Commodities.

Want a Rule Requring Prepayment on Shipments of Liquor.

Request has been made to the state railway commission by the American Railway Express Co. for approval of a long list of changes in classification of commidities, many of which will result in an increase of rates, so that the new scale may be put into effect in Nebraska July 15 The interstate commerce commission is being asked to O. K. similar changes on interstate shipments.

Among the changes specified, which involves neither a raise nor a lowering of rates, is a rule requiring prepayment on all shipments of liquor. The company claims to have lost a good deal of revenue on such consignments when they were seized by prohibition enforcement officers. It says there is no way to check up on spurious permits, of which the government authorities admit there are hundreds in existence.

The company is omitting from its receipts a footnote formerly printed on the blanks, binding patrons to certain specified conditions. It explains that some of these provision have been knocked out in the courts.

Raise on Coin and Currency

Material increases are proposed on gold coin and currency shipments, and in explanation thereof the application says.

"These are amply justified by the cost of increased guard service made necessary by unsettled conditions throughout the country and the unprecedented number of robberies and attempted robberies, both in the principal cities and en route."

An increase of 1 cent on small packages of compressed yeast, shipped in ice, is carried by the newregulations, and 75 per cent of the weight of the ice will be added to the weight of the yeast.

Dogs and other live animals in crates are to take a first class rate Cakes shipped by bakers will be raised, but may still go on the same rate as bread to the extent of 25 per cent in a mixed shipment. Bamboo, fiber and reed furniture is advanced from first to double first class. Live poultry and pigeons, if fancy stock or intended for exhibition will pay higher rates.

A few reductions are allowed, among them newspaper bundle rates from first class to 2 cents per pound, where the first class rates run between $4.50 and $9.

Coloring for butter and its substitutes is lowered from first to second class. X-ray tubes and other special tubes and coils used in laboratories will also be reduced.

Sundays and holidays will be omitted from the time allowed for reconsigning carload shipments.

The new rules provide that lesser fractions than one-half shall be dropped in figuring both cents and pound weights.

Union Farmers at An All Day Picnic

ORAFINO, Neb., June 19.—The farmers' picnic given by the Farmers' union, assisted by the Farm bureau and others last Friday, was a big success in every way there being about 1,400 people in attendance. It was in the old picnic grove just east of Orafino on Deer creek. Music was furnished by the Stockville band and the Liberty quartet. E. J. Keogh, president, presided and addresses were made by W. H. Brokaw, director of extension service; Superintendent Snyder and L. L. Cook of the extension station at North Platte; C. K. Morsel, N. S. A. Curtis and C. J. Osborn, president of the Nebraska Farmers' union. There were other features including a horse shoe tournament and baseball game, the day being such a great success that

PULLMAN COMPANY VALUE IS RAISED

State Board Increases Assessment For Standard Sleeping Cars.

The state board of assessment and equalization has increased the valuation of the Pullman Car company in Nebraska from $883,880, the 1921 figure, to $937,901 The valuation placed on cars remains the same as it was last year, standards being put in at $16,842 and tourists at $9,450. Valuation of this and other car companies is based on the car miles traveled during the year. Track over which standard Pullmans was used in Nebraska last year totalled 2,649 miles and that over which tourist cars were used was 1,004 miles. The valuation per car mile traveled by standard cars in 1921 was $305.85 and in 1922 it is $328.38. The valuation per car mile oftourists cars last year was $73.43 and this year it is $67.79.

The valuation of standard Pullmans is greater than it was a year ago, while for tourist cars it has been reduced, Last year the total valuation placed upon the standards was $810,-161, while this year it is $869,862. In 1921 the total valuation of the tourists cars was $73,699, while this year it is only $68.039.

The Western Union Telegraph company and the American Telegraph & Telephone comanies are dissatisfied withthe valuations placed upon their franchises by the board. The former, through its tax attorney, F N. Whitney, has sent to Secretary Osborne the following telegram:

"Learned indirectly of assessment of Western Union franchse at over $1,100,000. Is ths correct? If so, what time will board of assessments hear arguments for reduction o relimination? Please wire answer, deadhead"

Secretary Osborne has also received a telegram from A. E. Holcomb, vice president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company, asking for a hearing, as follows:

"Advise whe nhearing possible on franchise assessment. Amount extremely excessive."

To both of these queries the secretary has replied that a hearing might be arranged for any date prior to July 3. On that date the board meets to begin equalizing and all the arguments and shwoings must be submitted before then.

Secretary Osborne has sent to the dounty boards of equalization warnings against transacting any business after the twenty day limit prescribed by law. Laxity in the past in this regard has resulted in litigation and the nullification of some work done. After being in session for nineteen days, counting out Sundays and holidays, the boards should adjourn until after the state levy certificates have been received, when they should meet and make the various levies.

REGISTRATION FOR PRIMARIES

Voters Have Until July 8 to Get Names On City's Books.

New Party Followers To Be Registered as Progressive.

The usual registration of voters just prior to any election of consequence is beginning with a mild rush at the office of the city clerk in the city hall. On July 3 that office will begin staying open evenings to accommodate the new registrants and those who have moved since they last registered. It will remain open evenings for one week, excepting the evening of July 4. The books will close July 8 after which no one can register until after the primary election, July 18.

All who have not registered since May 1, 1920 must register if they expect to vote on July 18. All those who have moved from one ward into another ward or precinct since they registered, must have this change recorded upon their registration blank at the clerk's office or they will find that they cannot be given a ballot at the primary election.

Those who register must be prepared to furnish information as to their birth place, naturalization papers, if not native born and the party affiliation. The clerk's office is somewhat uncertain what name the new third party desires to have its followers register under but to date this spring only one who professed to belong has registered and he registered under the name of "progressive. This, it is understood, will be the official name under which the clerk will register all who are followers of that political faith.

TRIAL STARTS IN HEART BALM CASE

Trial of Miss Gertrude Henoch's $15,000 breach of promise suit against Isaac A Stine was scheduled to start in district court here before Judge Fred Shepherd, Monday afternoon Miss Henoch is a Brooklyn, N. Y. girl The romance was mostly by correspondence.

Mr Stine after promising to marry her gave her a diamond ring and purchased a wedding trosseau for her, Miss Henoch declared.

CONTINUES WORK AS COUNCILMAN

Bryan Will Not Quit City Post to Push Gubernatorial Campaign.

Council Considers Calling An Election On Charter Amendment.

C. W. Bryan will not resign from the city commission in order to devote his entire time to his campaign for the democratic nomination for governor. He announced his intention of hanging onto the city office Monday morning, declaring that his efforts to secure the nomination would in no way conflict with his duties as superintendent of streets and public improvements.

The council met in short session Monday morning to sit as a board of equalization on a paving district.

The business of calling an election to vote upon a charter amendment to provide for the direct election of mayor, was before the commission Monday afternoon. Mr. Bryan was responsible for the petition presented which, having been found sufficient by the clerk, makes it mandatory upon the council to call the election Mr. Bryan's candidacy for governor had not altered his determination to force the issue of direct election of mayor, and he was on hand to see that the election is called as demanded. Other commissioners, most of them opposed to the amendment, were about to vote to propose a change however and will allow to the people's will when it is expressed on July 18. Mr. Bryan had decided, however, that he would not personally recommend the extension of the call to provide for the direct election of all commissioners by departments, although he said he would favor such a plan if it should be suggested.

The council's time was taken up very largely with matters of public improvement, paving, water and sewer districts It is unknown just previous to the meeting of the commission, whether the representatives of the society for the advancement of the colored race, would appear in answer to the city's letter mailed recently. Petitions for a sewer district, Fortieth to Forty-fourth street, for a street light at Twenty-third and Orchard streets and one to pave South Fifteenth street, Poplar to South streets, were presented.

Commissioner Wright recommended that a permit to build a filing station at Eleventh and L streets, both entrances to be on L street, be granted.

Heavy Showers In Eastern Half Of State Sunday

Heavy showers, all of them local in nature, fell in the east half of Nebraska Sunday afternoon, according to the report made by the Burlington agents. From Ravenna to Aurora, very heavy rain was reported in several places. The Omaha division had light showers in several localities. The rain that reached Lincoln extended only a few miles on any side of the city and the district south was missed entirely beyond a point ten or twelve miles out.

Search Continues For Man Who Made Escape From Train

Search for James Duffield, who formerly lived at 1901 Vine street, and who escaped Sunday at 10:40 a. m. from Constable J. Immenhausen, while being returned from Omaha, was being continued by the police Monday. Chief of Police Peter Johnstone, stated Monday afternoon, that the police were working on the case without a single clue to follow.

Constable Immenhausen has also been searching for the fugitive but without any success.

Captain Walter Andersen was inclined to believe Monday afternoon that Duffield had returned to Omaha.

COMMISSION TO SIT AS BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Taxation Matters Before City Council Next Few Days.

Complaints On Valuations Should Be Filed In That Period.

Assessments on city property for the city taxes will be equalized by the city commission, sitting as the board of equalization, for ten days, beginning about noon Tuesday. The board will be in continuous session and will meeet as often as necessary to consider any complaints that may be made. Ordinarily the city has few adjustments to make, but any tax payer who desires information regarding his taxes or who believes his assessment is not properly made, should use the ten days named to investigate and to voice his objection.

With some exceptions the valuations on business property is understood to be about the same as last year. These exceptions are increases made where business property has improved in value due to neighboring improvements or the spread of the city business. There will be no general advancement of valuations as there was some two or three years ago.

Means a Decrease

The new state law, according to Mr. Dayton, is making some difference in the city's total assessment, just how much he is unable now to state. The new provision which excepts much intangible property from taxation, notably stocks and bonds in Nebraska corporations, will reduce the personal property assessment many thousands of dollars and there is no way now to be sure that this decrease will be equaled by an advance in real estate values.

Until the total assessment value of Lincoln property is known, there will be no certainty what tax will be necessary to raise revenue for the city government. Last year it was seven mills on the dollar of valuation, which was as nearly as possible eighty percent of the true value. That means that property assessed at $1,000 had to pay $7 to the city for its running expenses.

No Higher Rate

Mr. Dayton smiles when asked if the rate will be higher this year and says he cannot tell until he knows the totals and considers the estimates of the other commisssioners. However, Mr. Dayton is famous for his stubborn refusals to raise the rate of taxation in Lincoln and has actually lowered it recently and it can be taken as fairly well assured that he will find a way to pare the estimate down to meet the income under a tax rate at least no larger than last year.

The city makes its own assessments of real estate but takes the county's figures for personal property. This means that the values placed upon the real estate may be higher or lower than the county valuation but that the personal property will all be valued alike. Those who want to investigate the differences, if any, between the two valuations of real property or who believe it possible that their assessment is higher than it should be in comparison with another taxpayer's, should visit the city hall within the next ten days.

Wants State to Reimburse Him For Auto Hire

A. G. Taylor, postmaster at Chappell, Neb., wants to know if the state treasurer can reimburse him for $13.50, which Mr. Taylor claims he had to pay when on his way home, he was forced to hire an automobile to take him from York to Grand Island, when he could not get a bus.

Mr. Taylor states that he had to be home the next morning, and had to catch the train at Grand Island, and was forced to put the amount for auto hire to Grand Island.

State Treasurer Dan Cropsey said that he saw no way in which Mr. Taylor could be reimbursed by the state.

COMBINE ASSURED

Two Great Labor Organizations to Unite for Fight in Coal Strike, and Rail Tieup Which is Said to Be Inevitable, Chiefs Announce.

PLANS APPROVED BY LEADERS OF UNIONS

Steps Taken Toward Learning Whether Fighting Alliance Within Law—Call Attorneys to Pass On Legality of Coalition.

(International News Service.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio., June 19.—The greatest combine ever known to organized labor in the United States stands assured today ready to wage a showdown fight in the existing coal strike and the now believed inevitable railroad tieup.

Leaders of the miners and railway unions have approved the coalition of forces and nothing now but possible government intervention stands in the way of marshalling their battalions for the coming industrial conflict.

With the assurance of the fighting alliance, came a move today by prominent labor leaders to see that forming the combination is within the law.

Ostensibly here to advise labor on how it can combat the United States supreme court's recent adverse decisions in the child labor and the Coronado coal cases, prominent legal minds of the country will be called upon to pass upon the legality of the coalition.

Ten lawyers from all sections of the country are expected here tonight beckoned by the leaders of the American Federation of Labor in convention. If they convince labor leaders that there is no conspiracy in the contemplated combination, the coalition will be effected tomorrow night. Definite assurance that the union coal miners, now in their third month of strike, will join forces with the railroad employes, represented in the shop crafts, to bolster them up for the coming railroad strike, has been given by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

"I am convinced that the railroad leaders recognize the necessity of making a fight regardless of consequences," said Lewis, "and in that fight they will receive the whole souled cooperation of every man in the mining industry and the help of the miners will not be a matter of small consequence."

Recent wage cut decisions of the railroad labor board leave the employes with no alternative but to fight, in Lewis' opinion.

Would Paralyze Carriers.

CINCINNATI, O., June 19.—Three factors will win victory for the miners and railroad men in a common strike, it was predicted today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who will meet tomorrow night with rail union chiefs to consider joint strike action in the threatened rail walkout of approximately 1,000,000 men.

Joining of forces of these organizations, Mr. Lewis said, would first have a marked moral influence on labor generally; second, it would dislocate the transportation system of the nation, and third, would affect the industrial fabric.

Coincidentally with the statements of Mr. Lewis, ten railroad union presidents made public last night a letter to the labor board announcing their intention of going through with the strike in event one is authorized by vote of the union members. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employes department, stated that the vote cast so far has been overwhelmingly for a walkout.

Indicted Goblin Of Klan On Way To West Coast

EL PASO, Tex., June 19.—William S. Coburn, grand goblin, of the Pacific domain, Ku Klux Klan, who stopped off here Saturday on his way from Atlanta to Los Angeles where he is under indictment in connection with the Inglewood raid, left Sunday for California.

"If my enemies in Los Angeles know I am coming they will do everything in their power to humiliate me," he said. "There's nothing those fellows would not do to carry out their designs and keep me away until they can saddle the responsibility for the raid on me."

Coburn said that the first thing he would do would be to submit to arrest and then make bond. He could make bond in any amount, he went on, and "was not afraid of the whole gang."

Sioux City Labor After More Pay

SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 18.—A general campaign to enforce a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for laborers, both union and non-union is to be waged aggressively in Sioux City in the immediate future. It is the purpose of organized labor in Sioux City, it is said, to enforce payment of this compensation if within the realm of possibility.

A mass meeting of all union and non-union workers has been scheduled for Friday night, July 7, at the Labor Temple, for the purpose of considering ways and means of enforcing payment of the proposed increase. The exisating wage payment in Sioux City is stated to be 35 cents an hour on the average.

Nothing Heard From Cole.—Washington T. Cole, paroled Nebraska convict, seems to have made a clean getaway from Lincoln with the automobile which he rented last Friday and failed to return. The state authorities have been too busy with their chase after Ernest Bush, alias Fred Brown, to give Cole's case much attention as yet. They probably will not go to extreme lengths to recapture Cole, but will advertise for him.

This is enough to run the state government four or five months. The amount on hand is the largest the state has had at any one time in recent years, due to the fact that state taxes are higher this year than ever before. Treasury receipts for the next six months will be small in comparison with those during May and June and the balances will be greatly depleted again before the next legislature meets.

The auction sale will be held on the north side of the postoffice, the marshal said. The car is that seized from Earl Gibbons, on a booze transportation charge last November.

Two Are Arrested.—George W. Elliott, 41, living at 1221 P street, and Myrtle Hattan, 28, who gave the same address, were arrested Sunday by Federal Prohibition Agent Tom Carroll, Deputy State Sheriff Karl Schmitt and Officers Gross and Schneible. The officers say that they found some intoxicating liquor in Elliott's possession. No charges were filed up to Monday at 2 p. m. against the woman.

Fined On Liquor Charge. — R. H. Wittstruck entered a plea of guilty in Justice Stevens court Monday morning, to a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor and was fined $100 and costs, and his touring car was ordered confiscated by the court. Wittstruck, who lives at Panama, Neb., was arrested Sunday by Federal Prohibition Agent Tom Carroll and Deputy State Sheriff Karl Schmitt, who say that they found a quantity of liquor in Wittstruck's car.

Tried In Federal Court—The suit of the Twin City company against the Carleton State bank, to compel the bank to pay over $2,000, said to have beeen deposited by a customer at the bank, for the purchase of a threshing machine from the company, was begun in federal court Monday morning. McClung Monday morning arrested Gertrude Gohdy on a commissioner's warrant which charged the defendant with forging a meterial signature to a certain money order for $45, which was payable to Mrs. A. M. Struble. Mrs. Gohdy was taken before U. S. Commissioner H. J. Whitmore, Monday morning, who bound her over to the next grand jury. She gave bond. The amount of her bond was not made public. Nolan, former employe of the city, who was severely burned by electric wires at Eighth and F streets, August 13, 1920, while removing wires from one pole to another. It is alleged in the demurrer that the court has no jurisdiction of the defendant or subject of the action; that Nolan has no legal authority to sue in such an action; that there is a defect in the parties defendant; that the suit does not state sufficient grounds to constitute a cause of action.

Stiff Fines for Speeding—Police Judge H. J. Whitmore, Monday morning, handed out some stiff jolts to several alleged speeders, when he fined J. W. The cases of Peter Johnson, 218 N street, and Leonard Whitley, of Rokeby, also charged with speeding, were continued until 9 a. m. Tuesday.

HOT ELECTION IN MINNESUTA AND IN MAINE

People Go to Polls to Name Candidates For Fall Contests.

Old Guard G. O. P. Has Candidate for U. S. Senate In Both States.

(Associated Press.)

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Minnesota voters went to the polls today to nominate party candidates for the United States senate, congress, and state officers.

More than the usual interest attaches to the senatorial contest, for a woman—Mrs. Anna Dickie Olson of Cloquet—is contesting with two men for the democratic nomination and Senator Frank B. Kellogg, an avowed and loyal supporter of the national administration, has two opponents in his race for re-nomination.

Viewing with the democratic senatorial contest for first attention is the republican congressional fight in the third district, where Representative Charles F. Davis, a member of the national house since 1905, has active opposition in Reuben Thoreen of Stillwater, who has the endorsement of the district convention.

Senator Kellogg, all present congressman, except Mr. Davis, and all state officers with the exception of the clerk of the supreme court, have the endorsement of republican state or district conventions.

Names of all convention-indorsed candidates appear on the ballot today with the endorsement fact printed after their names, while those opposing them have filed as independents.

Ernest Lundeen, of Minneapolis, former congressman, and Richard Titus, Minneapolis, are opposing Senator Kellogg. Lundeen has made an active campaign, while Mr. Kellogg has remained in Washington and publicly has taken no part in the campaign.

Indorsed by the democratic state convention, almost in the closing hours after efforts to find a satisfactory male candidate had failed, Mrs. Olson has set the pace throughout the campaign by making a state wide tour in a small automobile.

Margaret M. Kellar is entered as republican nominee for secretary of state.

Warming Up in Maine

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Two unswerving supporters of the administration and its policies, Senator Kellogg of Minnesota and Hale of Maine, face primary contests in their respective states today, which will determine whether they are to be regarded as members of the republican majority in the senate.

Both are identified with what is known as President Harding's golf cabinet and both have invariably stood by the administration program. The nomination of Kellogg is regarded by the old guard, to which he belongs, as practically certain, while the friends of Hale profess confidence in his ability to win out despite the fact that he is facing much stronger opposition than Kellogg.

Hale's most formidable opponent is former Representative Frank E. Guernsey, for years a member of the house whose campaign has been based largely unpon his contention that Maine should return to the old custom of sending one senator from the western and one from the eastern part of the state.

Both Hale and his colleague, Senator Fernald, are from the western end of the state, while Guernsey lives in the eastern part.

Hale has the advantage of having his opposition split between Guernsey and Howard Davies, who is running on a farm-labor platform. Davies has conducted a vigorous campaign and repeatedly assailed Hale's record as an administration spokesman.

Former Governor Curtis, of Maine, is the democratic senatorial candidate in Maine and in case Hale is renominated the democrats there are figuring they have a better chance of electing Curtis who is unopposed in the democratic primary, than if Guernsey should win out.

Two Women Perish In a Hotel Fire at Summer Resort

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 19.—Two women were burned to death in fires which destroyed the fashionable LaFayette club at Minnetonka Beach, Lake Minnetonka, near here yesterday. A dozen guests and employees among the 100 persons forced to flee, were injured. The loss to the building is estimated at $250,000.

The fire started in the spacious ball room. A smouldering cigaret is believed to have been the cause.

Maupin's Name to Go On the Ballot

Secretary of State Amsberry has decided to accept the filing of W. M. Maupin of Gering as a democratic primary candidate for governor, notwithstanding that it failed to reach him in the mails until Monday morning. Postmarks on the envelope showed it was mailed at Gering on Friday and received in Lincoln Saturday, though not delivered at the capitol till Monday.

Amsberry had previously given it out that he would reject any filing unless some official notice of it reached him before midnight Saturday.

Other belated filings which are to be accepted include that of Harry F. Fleharty of Omaha for the democratic nomination for attorney general. This was shoved through the mail slot in the secretary of state's office some time Saturday night and was found Sunday morning.

William E. Shuman of North Platte telephoned Saturday evening that his application to have his name placed on the primary ballots as candidate for congressman for the Sixth district had been placed in the mail and this will be accepted.

R. H. Thorp of Lincoln filed late Saturday night as republican candidate for congressman for the First district.

Harding to Call A Conference On His Pet Measure

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Republican leaders of the house said today they expected President Harding to call a conference immediately to determine definitely what action is to be taken on the administration's ship subsidy bill.

They are confident the president will give his consent to their suggestion that final action on the merchant marine legislation should go over until after the senate has finished with the tariff bill.

Speaker Gillett, returning to the capital today after a week-end cruise with the president on the Mayflower, was expected to communicate the administration's views on the legislative program to other republican leaders.

HUGHES DEMANDS MUZZLE ON PRESS

Secretary Doesn't Want Papers to Talk About Foreign Negotiation.

Would Suppress Editorial Comment Until After Parleys Are Over.

(International News Service.)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 19.—International negotiations cannot be conducted successfully in face of a fire to criticism from a "clamorous public," Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes declared here today in an address at the commencement exercises at the University of Michigan.

Asserting the old European diplomacy of intrigue was discredited by the world war, Hughes insisted a certain amount of secrecy and reserve is necessary even in the open diplomacy of America. Premature discussions in the press or public forums, he declared, may prevent the accomplishment of the most enlightened aims, giving opportunity for the insidious efforts of selfish interests as well as favoring opposition abroad.

The diplomacy of the United States should be responsive to enlightened public opinion, Hughes said, and since public opinion is developed by consideration of the facts there should be every possible facility for presenting the true situation to the people at the proper time.

Secretary Should Be Free.

The secretary and members of his department should be free to appear before the senate to explain or defend his foreign policy, and to have an opportunity of meeting any exigency which might arise in the course of debate over an important treaty, Hughes said.

Summarizing the foreign policy of the United States as he conceives it, the secretary of state continues:

"Our ultimate security and the assurance of our progress will not be found in the constitutions or statues or treaties or conferences, important as these may be, but in the self-respect that will not permit abasement; in the national pride and just self interest that will not tolerate interference with independence in the spirit of helpfulness which seeks honorable cooperation; in the love of justice which will not permit abuse of power and which scorns to profit by unjust accusations, in the insistence upon the precesses of reason by which alone we can avoid the mistakes of prejudice; in the detestation of the demagogue and all his works, the most dangerous enemy of the republic; and in the sympathy with the weak and oppressed and in the dominant sentiment of human brotherhood through which we shall be able to reconcile our national aspirations with the full performance of our duty to humanity."

Full Power to Executive.

Pointing out that the constitution gives the executive the full power to conducting foreign relations, exxcept that the senate especially authorized to ratify treaties, Hughes said he was not in favor of any change in distribution of power which would encourage the notion that the executive is responsible to the legislative branch in matters which under the constitution are exclusively of executive concern. He also would deplore, he said, any method so contrived as to facilitate antagonism between the executive department and legislative leaders or which would merely provid opportunity for the censorous.

The management of negotiations with foreign powers has its essential conditions, Hughes said, which relate (1) to the interest of one's state (2) to the requirements of honorable intercourse between states, and (3) to the maintenance of international good will.

These conditions, the secretary pointed out, impose a measure of reticence in the course of negotiations, with which "the most high minded negotiators cannot afford to dispense."

If the peoples and governments concerned were in complete accord, there would ne no need for negotiations, the secretary pointed out, and when they are not in accord, it is idle to suppose negotiations can be conducted without "prudent reservations" on each side.

Would Stifle Criticism.

While it is assumed that democracies are peace-loving," he continued, "it cannot be forgotten that the activities of democracies frequently make it difficult to arrive at a good understanding. At least, we may appreciate the fact that peoples cannot deal directly with peoples; that there must be agents of negotiations; that there must be a reasonable amount of freedom to enable them to secure results. They cannot adequately perform their task under a fire of criticism or successfully conduct negotiations which are practically taken out of their hands and directed by a clamorous public."

With all these considerations. Hughes said, it remains true that there should be no secrecy for its own sake; that there should be publicity on all proceeding to the extent consistent with the essential requirements of negotiations, and that nothing should ever be done by our diplomatic agencies, which so far as its actual character is concerned, could not be publicly proclaimed and justified as being free from artifice and deception and in full accord with American principles.

The people of the United States have peculiar obligations as well as power in the sphere of international action, the secretary said and education for citizenship implies a just appreciation of civic responsibility when peoples are dealing with each other as peoples and not merely determining domestic policy and settling internal disputes.

Knocks Out Both Candidates For Place In Council

(Special to The Star.)

RANDOLPH, Neb., June 19.—The second ward of Randolph is without a member of the city council as a result of a decision handed down by Judge Bryant in the county court in the trial of the contested election of councilman from that ward. Charles Howell filed the complaining petition shortly after the city election in April, alleging that there had been irregularity in the closing of the polls. Through errpr on the part of the judges of the election, the polls were closed at seven o'clock, but at the protest of several voters, they were reopened, and remained so until eight. At the first closing a count was taken which gave Howell a lead of four votes in the race for councilman; after the reopening, however, George Reed was found to have a lead of ten votes over Howell. The judge maintained that inasmuch as there was irregularity in the closing of the polls, neither of the candidates was elected. What course will be taken by the city to fill the vacancy is not known. Both Reed and Howell have filed an appeal from the decision, but it is uncertain whether not they will prosecute.

HARDIN WINS IN UNIQUE AIR RACE

Thousands See Men Change Parachutes in Mile Drop From Clouds.

Sergeant Chambers Makes Thrilling Jump in Midst of Hail Storm.

While thousands of people watched and cheered them on, Dick Hazelrigg, Lincoln boy, and "Chuck" Hardin, Minneapolis air wizard Sunday afternoon stepped off a speeding airplane almost a mile in the sky and raced for the ground below. Hardin, with the advantage of an extra parachute, touched land first, winning the unique contest by a scant hundred feet.

The race was entirely extemporaneous and came as a surprise to the crowd which had gathered at the south Lincoln flying field to see the stunts promoted by the Lincoln Standard Aircraft company. As Hardin climbed on a wing of Pilot Linch's plane, preparatory to a three chute drop from the clouds, Hazelrigg stepped forward.

"My two-chute rig is here," he said. "I'll race you down."

"You're on," returned the Minnesota man, and Hazelrigg clambered on to the other wing. The ship took off with a roar through the rain cleared air, and circled to a height of between 4,000 and 5,000 feet above the field.

Standing with one arm around a strut, Hardin waved at his opponent. The local boy raised his arm in answer, and immediately both were hurtling through the air. Hardin's parachute opened first and the local boy shot by him for a clear gain. Both then floated slowly down until Hardin cut loose his first chute, dropping seventy-five feet before his second opened. A moment later Hazelrigg cut loose his chute and again assumed the lead as his second chute ballooned out.

Spectators at this time were crowding to the south-east corner of the field. Several hundred feet above the ground Hardin completed his triple chute change the first ever seen in Lincoln, and landed close to the spot where the Lincoln man alighted a few moments later.

Sergeant Encil Chambers, holder of the world's altitude record for parachute jumping, provided the crowd with plenty of thrills earlier in the afternoon. It was estimated that several thousand people were on or near the field when he took the air just as the rain was starting. He cut loose at a height of 5,000 feet. Hail had commenced to fall with the rain, threatening to cut through the circle of thin silk supporting him. Chambers, recognizing the danger, speeded his descent, working the rope supports, and managed to keep the chute open till he landed with a splash in the middle of the field. Seeing that he was safe, the crowd scurried to their cars, under the wings of planes and umbrellas and at least half waited patiently until the shower was over and Hardin and Hazelrigg performed their unique stunt.

The former will do a six-chute jump next Sunday afternoon, according to Manager Ray Page of the Aircraft company. Kathryn Hardin, his wife and a well known performer, will also do air stunts for the crowd.

NUTRITION CLASS BEGINS ITS WORK

Seventy Attend Opening of Emerson Institute Monday Morning.

Over seventy teachers, physicians, nurses, physical directors and health workers are in attendance at the Emerson institute, which opened at the Bancroft school at 11 a. m. Monday. Miss Mabel Skilton of Boston, the first week's instructor, delivered the opening lecture. Dr R A Emerson, the malnutrition specialist will arrive in Lincoln next Sunday and be in charge during the second week. Local arrangements for the institute were in the hands of Dr. Katherine H K. Wolfe, health supervisor of the city schools.

The institute is a school for teaching the proper dietary care of growing children, and five model clinics have been organized in the various schools to serve as demonstration classes. The work comes primarily under the head of health or social service work. Lincoln is the smallest city to have the course, other prominent centers being Los Angeles, San Francisco, Grand Rapds, New Haven, Indianapolis, Atlanta, and Rochester, New York. Several universities are taking up the movement, among them being Dartmouth college and Vassar. Many of the school are handling the course through their department of physical education, which in some cases has been renamed the department of health.

Miss Skilton reviewed the experiences of the various centers and the great improvement they have made in child health in their communities. Even athletes have come to recognize that underweight means understrength, she said, and are adopting the system of feeding up and training down. She briefly mentioned the ill effects of under-nourishment during the the growing period; conditions which can never afterward be cured. Curvature of the spine, tuberculosis and death in child birth are some of the most striking after effects of malnutrition.

Tuesday at 9 a. m. The Prescott school model clinic of twenty boys and girls from 8 to 10 years of age will scientifically be examined by the class. Parents will accompany their children. Charts have been prepared on each child, showing its degree of underweight, and tests will be made of its mental and physical condition and reaction. These tests will be repeated during the two weeks institute and for some time afterward during which time the child's diet will be carefully supervised. A number of Lincoln physicians, dentists and psychologists have volunteered to assist in this phase of the work.

The institute will open at 9 a. m. each day, closing at 11:30 a m, and in the afternoon from 2 p m until 4:30 p. m. All session will be held a the Bancroft school, Fifteenth and U streets.

DELAY IS COSTLY TO ANTELOPE MAN

Loses $800 For Failure to Pay Small Sum On Hail Insurance.

Storm Wiped Out Eighty Acres of Rye Belonging to Lampert.

By failing to pay his bank order for state hail insurance, amounting to $40, when it came due on June 1, Frank Lampert, a farmer near Brunswick, Antelope county, lost $800 that would otherwise have been due him as indemnity for the destruction of eighty acres of rye in a hailstorm which swept that section on June 8

This $800 represented a two-thirds interest which Lampert would have had, as a tenant on the farm, in a 1,200 loss that would have been allowed for the rye, at the maximum figure of $15 per acre provided by law.

The owner of the land, W. G. Woolley, who had insured his one-third of the crop with the state, paid the premium of $20 thereon and he will get $400 from his hail insurance fund when the distribution is made at the end of the season.

Some Didn't Pay Last Year.

The law allows a farmer to take out state hail insurance in April or May and give a bank order, or note, of the premium, payable not later than June 1. In this way, farmers get a month or two of hail protection before they are required to pay for it. Last year, a number of them failed to pay at all, after they had had the benefit of hail insurance during the first two months of the season and would have been reimbursed if they had sustained losses in either of the two months.

Because of this experience, Chief Brian has turned down several applications this year from persons who did not pay in 1921. He also instructed county clerks to notify him promptly of any who were in arrears after June 1 on this year's business

On June 6, Brian got word from the clerk of Antelope county that Lampert was delinquent on his bank order for the $40 premium. Two days later on the 8th, the hail storm ruined the rye. On the 10th, Lampert came to Lincoln to see about getting the $800 of insurance money which his policy called for.

When Chief Brian produced the county clerk's letter showing that Lampert was in default, the latter claimed that his banker had called on the county clerk and tendered the amount of the premium, but the clerk refused to accept it. Brian was going to Antelope county to adjust the hail losses, and he promised to look into the matter.

Waited Till After Hailstorm.

When he called on the county clerk at Neligh, he learned that the banker did not tender money on Lampert's behalf until after the hailstorm had occurred, and the loss was sustained. It is not customary, in the insurance business, to accept a risk where the loss has already taken place, and so the clerk turned down the proffer. Chief Brian holds that this was the proper thing for him to do and the only thing he could lawfully do.

During his visit to Antelope county, Chief Brian drove through a number of precincts and viewed fields where losses had been suffered, in order to adjust the claims. The worst losses were around Brunswick. After he had been there once and driven back to Neligh, he got word from his office at Lincoln that some more claims had come in from farmers around Brunswick, and he had to visit the same territory again the next day

Sixteen notices of hail losses in Madison county, due to a storm there on June 12, have been received by the hail insurance bureau. This was the second hailstorm there within a week.

Five claims have come in from Lancaster county, dated last Thursday. They are from farmers living near Roca, Waverly and Ceresco

Chase Resigns to Take Charge of Davis Campaign

Assistant Attorney General Jackson B Chase has resigned his position with the state legal department and taken charge of Attorney General Davis' personal campaign for the republican nomination for United States senator. He will be in charge of the Davis headquarters on the second floor of the Funke block.

Mr. Chase will probably be reappointed by Attorney General Davis on his legal staff, after the primaries are held, but up to that time he will not be on the state payroll.

This is the second member of the attorney general's office force whom Mr. Davis has borrowed to help him in the campaign The other one is Miss Frieda Bayerlein, who recently gave up her position as stenographer in the legal department and is now supervising a force of feminine employes at Davis' headquarters. She will probably go back, also, when the primary campaign ends.

Blowout Causes Auto to Upset; Four Are Injured

Mrs. Fred Wollert, 1905 South Sixteenth street, received a broken right arm, and Mr. Wollert some severe cuts, and Mrs. Searles, and James Atwater also received bruises when a tire blowout caused the automobile driven by Mr. Wollert to turn over on the D. L. D highway, about a mile east of Greenwood, Sunday afternoon.

"All that saved us from death or bad injury," Mr. Wollert said," is the fact that I was going slow when it happened."

The Wollert car was badly damaged, although it was able to return to Lincoln under its own power.

About People

Rev. Samuel P. Pittman, a prominent educator and evangelist of Nashville, Tenn., visited his brother, Edwin C. Pittman, last week. He has gone to Denver, where he will be the principal speaker at a large church meeting. Mr. Pittman visited the various colleges and universities in Lincoln and suburbs and was very much impressed. Rev. Pittman holds the chair of theology and history in the David Lipscomb college at Nashville.

CONFERENCE ON PAVING DELAYED

Business Men and County Commissioners Were to Meet Monday.

An important meeting of Lincoln business men and the county commissioners, which was to be held Monday noon at the Chamber of Commerce, to discuss the further litigation threatened against the county by property owners objecting to the assessment for the penitentiary-asylum paving costs, was postponed due to the inability of County Attorney Matson to attend. Mr. Matsen also desired to consult with attorneys Harry Ankeny and C. J. Campbell, prior to the meeting, it was announced.

The meeting was called by the county commissioners to meet new and important matters pertaining to Lancaster county in the penitentiary-asylum paving litigation in the supreme court. It was planned to discuss the advisability of employing additional counsel to represent the county in the litigation, which involves a matter of about $300,000, which the county will have to pay if the recent decision of the supreme court is reversed

The supreme court's decision was handed down, May 6, in favor of the county, but attorneys for the opposition have been bending every effort to secure a rehearing and another prominent law firm has entered into the case. The supreme court's decision was with a dissenting opinion four justices deciding for the county, and three against.

To checkmate the efforts of the opposition, the county commissioners thought it advisable to call a meeting of prominent business men to discuss the situation with a view to employing additional counsel for the county. About two dozen of Lincoln's largest taxpayers were asked to meet at 1 o'clock, but the invitations had to be recalled shortly before noon when the county attorney announced that he would be unable to attend.

Former Deputy County Attorney Ankeny handled the case for the county, assisted by Attorney Campbell, who was employed by the Abel Construction company. Mr. Ankeny carried the case through even after he had resigned from the county attorney's office, and since he and Mr. Campbell were better acquainted with the case than the county attorney the commissioners thought it best to hire Mr. Ankeny and Mr. Campbell to stop the advances of the plaintiffs in the case

Property owners brought suit against the county over the paving, attacking the jurisdiction of the county and the state board of control to authorize the paving.

BROWN WILL BE RETURNED TO PEN

a little-traveled mountain highway known as the Box Elder trail, to the northwest.

"These two trails come together again before Douglas is reached. Connecting with the Box Elder trail, however, is an old and largely deserted road known as the Ross trail, little used by automobiles. This trail runs to the west, paralleling the Northwestern railroad some distance south of it, and avoids all the large towns. Brown evidently intended to take that route and thus evade the posses lying in wait for him

"A cowboy named Roy Combs told me at Douglas that this was what he might do Accordingly, I drove out 24 miles in an auto with Combs, Mayor LeBar of Douglas, and a police officer named Peyton to the place where Ross trail forks from the Box Elder trail. We were prepared to nab him if he came that way. We stayed from midnight till daybreak, and then learned he had beeen caught farther south.

Got Supper at Ranch House

"Brown was at the Burnett ranch house, in what is known as the Little Medicine district, and got his supper there Friday evening. His machine had become mired in the mud nearby, but he succeeded in getting it out after supper and started on He had to go up a winding trail around a small mountain, and got only as far as the Taylor ranch, two and a half miles from the Burnett ranch, when he got stuck again. It was at this point that the pursuing party found him early next morning.

"People at the Burnett ranch thought there was something wrong about Brown, though they had not heard of his being wanted in Nebraska. They inferred that he was trying to get away with a stolen car. He appeared to be nervous and worn out, they said, and handled his car very poorly as if he were too tired to drive it.

"While at the Burnett ranch he picked up a little child as if to play with it, but the mother of the youngster didn't like his looks and took it away from him.

"Brown made a poor choice of country to hide in. There were no trees anywhere around and nothing to help him escape observation, except sagebrush and an occasional boulder. If he had taken the Laurel trail, he would have found a thickly timbered country only seven miles ahead, and the road would have enabled him to get there without any trouble."

Brown Remains Silent.

RAWLINS, Wyo., June 19.—Fred Brown, wanted by the Omaha police for the alleged kidnaping of two young women and other violations of the law, slept well in the hospital at Wyoming state penitentiary here last night, where he is recovering from a wound inflicted by a member of the posse which captured him last Saturday near Medicine Bow.

Gus Hyers, Nebraska state sheriff, is here waiting to secure permission from physicians attending Brown to take the fugitive back to Nebraska. Hyers said he planned to leave here Tuesday.

Efforts by prison officials and the newspaper reporters to get Brown to talk of his experiences or to discuss the crimes with which he is charged have proved unsuccessful. Yesterday while Sheriff Hyers was questioning Brown, he asked the prisoner about one of the charges against Brown.

Brown smiled, then replied. "Now sheriff, you either are kidding yourself or me. I'm not going to talk."

LINCOLN MAN IS KILLED BY AUTO

Roland Brown Meets Death While Attending Baptist Convention.

Roland Brown, 60, who lived at 1235 L street, and whose odd clothes and appearance have for months aroused the interest and speculation of passersby, and who was known at his rooming place, more or less as a mystery man, was killed at Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday, when struck by an automobile

Mr. Brown had gone to attend a Baptist convention at Indianapolis according to Mrs. K. T. Gerlach, 1235 L street, his landlady

"He stated that he would be back on Sunday, June 18. He left June 9," Mrs. Gerlach said.

According to Mrs. Gerlach, Brown came to room at her place on November 24, 1921. He was not talkative.

Brown was always dressed in a silk hat, evening coat and corduroy trousers, although sometimes he wore a cap. Mrs. Gerlach said He was wont to sit in front of the Lindell hotel.

"Once when he was sick," Mrs. Gerlach said, "he got a paper from some insurance company, on which I saw that he had been a railroad engineer once. He had travelled extensively."

Mrs. Gerlach also stated that Brown is survived by three sisters and one brother. One of the sisters and the brother live in California, Mrs. Gerlach said. He is said to have originally come from Greencastle, Penn.

CHARGE ORDNANCE MAKER SOLD GUNS TO IRISH REBELS

Conspiracy to Violate Neutrality Laws Also Alleged In Indictment.

Finding Includes Names of Seven Others Besides Munitions Company.

(Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., June 19.—Col. Marcellus H Thompson, vice president and active head of the Auto-ordnance company of New York, has been indicted by the federal grand jury here on a charge of a conspiracy to ship arms to Ireland in violation of the neutrality laws. The announcement was made today by assistant United States District Attorney Thomas V. Arrowsmith.

Indictments also have been returned against the Auto-ordnance company and seven other individuals on the same charge as the result of the seizure at Hoboken some time ago of the Cosmopolitan line freighter, East Side, in the coal bunkers of which were found 459 machine guns. The guns were alleged to have been destined for use by the Sinn Fein in Ireland.

The other individuals indicted are:

Frank Williams, alias Lawrence de Lacy, alias Lawrence Pierce, who is alleged to have paid for the shipment of guns and his brother, Fred Williams, alias Edward de Lacy, who is alleged to have been implicated in the purchase of the guns. Both are believed now to be in Ireland.

George Gordon Rorke, a salesman of Washington, who is alleged to have placed an order for the guns with the Auto-Ordnance company.

Frank J. Merkling, secretary of the Auto-Ordnance company.

Frank B. Ochsenritter, of New York and Washington, who is accused of placing the first order for some of the guns with the Auto-Ordnance company.

John Culhane, a truckman, of New York, who is alleged to have carted the guns from the American Railway Express company in New York to his storehouse in the Bronx for Frank Williams.

Carte Also Indicted.

A Mr. Brophy, whose first name is unknown to the federal authorities, who is alleged to have carted the shipment from Culhane's storehouse to the East side.

The guns were manufactured by the Colt Patent Arms company of Hartford, Conn., and are alleged to have been sold by the Auto-Ordnance company.

Their inventor is said to be Gen John P. Thompson, father of Colonel Thompson. The latter in a son-in-law of Col. George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain.

There was considerable mystery about the guns after their seizure and an investigation was started by the United States shipping board and the department of justice. Frank Williams claimed ownership of the guns after seizure He declared he had purchased a number of guns through the Auto-Oordance company and stored them in a warehouse. He said they had been stolen from the warehouse and asserted he did not know how they got on the ship.

Rorke later was arrested and said to have admitted that he sold the guns to a group of strange men.

The indictments were returned by the January federal grand jury, which concluded its work in April Information concerning the indictments was withheld, it was indicated, because of the inability to reach some of those indicted.

The technical indictment against the men as a body charged them with "conspiracy to set on foot and provide the means for military enterprises to be carried on against the territory of a foreign prince with whom the United States was at peace."

LOCAL GIRL BACK FROM FLOOD AREA

Miss Olive Hartley Will Accept Position With Red Cross at Aurora.

Tells Stirring Tale of Relief Work in Inundated Illinois Counties.

Miss Olive Hartley, of Lincoln, and member of the 1921 graduating class of the University of Nebraska, daughter of Mrs. Esther Hartley of Chim, has returned from Beardstown, Ill, to accept the position of home service secretary of the Red Cross chapter at Aurora, Neb. Miss Hartley was engaged in flood relief work at Beardstown and brings back a vivid story of the disaster there The Red Cross did great service there, she says, in furnishing seed for farmers to plant their crops, and providing food for stock on farms stricken by the flood, and investigating cases of distress arising among the resident families.

"The Beardstown flood began Easter Sunday," Miss Hartley said, "when the Illinois river rose to the highest level in its history and flooded thousands of acres of its valley in central and southern Illinois. Beardstown itself, a town of 8,000, was submerged to a level of from one to five feet of wate, above the floors of hundreds of houses and business blocks The water damaged foundations, where it was not high enough to do damage to the interiors Farm after farm had 7 to 14 feet of water over them, ruining crops, and feed, and tearing farm building to pieces.

Worse Than 1913 Flood

"The people prepared for high water as well as possible, expecting a repetition of the 1913 flood, only to find it much worse than that one was. Several hundreds of families in Beardstown moved into tents and some are still in them, for the section nearest the river is still covered with water, and many can not move back into their houses until repairs are made.

"The farms in three cheek drainage districts in Schuyler county, adjacent to Beardstown, were especially damaged. It not only ruined the wheat, rye and pasture, but much of the land did not drain in time to put in corn and one whole district, Coal Creek drainage, is still under six feet of water and may not be out in time to plant winter wheat The tenant farmers of this district have had to rent other farms wherever they could, and have been placed in an especially difficult position because their machinery is still under water. Most of the farmers of this district were confident until the last that the levee would not break, so when it did, they hurriedly set the furniture up as high as possible, took their families and their livestock with them and left everything else. Some had to swim out with their horses and many got furniture out by rowing back for it.

No Lives Lost

"No lives were lost and no sickness resulted from the flood A local committee of business men sent out calls for relief immediately and funds poured in generously. At first this was expended for groceries for the people driven away from home, as soon as they were able to return to their homes and estimate the damage and the cost of repairing foundations, replastering, repapering, painting and repairs, and replacing of furniture, claims were prepared and presented to the relief committee Merchants who suffered business losses were not allowed to put in claims, and people who could take care of their repairs without going into debt were asked not to put in claims, but Beardstown is a railroad town and the vast majority of people are at the mercy of railroad layoffs, caused by coal strikes, and other reasons, and have small margins.

"For the farmers, the relief has been first of all in the form of seed for summer crops and feed to keep the livestock until the corn is harvested. Tenant farmers and resident land owners heavily mortgaged, were considered and the seed and feed bought cost thousands of dollars. The local committee has generously taken care of the farmers in both Cass and Schuyler counties.

"The work of the Red Cross was to investigate and put in claims for flood sufferers. A house to house survey was made in Beardstown, and a schedule of losses and resources obtained from all the farmers. The Red Cross disaster relief files at Beardstown contain records of over 1,200 families of flood sufferers who have been investigated.

"Beardstown does not look like a flood-stricken city now. The inhabitants are optimistic and progressive and not at all down in the mouth The most discouraging factor of it all is that the farm land in the valley has become unsalable and unmortgageable, until some guarantee against flood is made. The crops have been damaged by seepage every year, since the 1913 flood and if Chicago persists in turning water into the Illinois river from Lake Michigan, the farms along the Illinois near Beardstown will be worthless. The only remedy will be to buy up land for a deeper channel for the Illinois, and have it dug for that purpose. This is needed even if Chicago does not divert any more Lake Michigan water into the Illinois. Beardstown itself is working on a new plan of levees to save it, more future floods."

SURVEY REVEALS WEEK'S BUSINESS WAS ON UP GRADE

Industrial and Financial Conditions In U. S. Present Generally Favorable Aspect.

Steel Trade Better, More Coke Plants Open and Coal Production Increases.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—Industrial and financial conditions in the last week presented a generally favorably aspect, notwithstanding the reactionary tendency in the securities market which was apparently connected with the technical speculative situation.

Steel position exceeded the previous best rate attained this year. More coke plants were started and blast furnaces blown in. Coal productions also was greater

Detroit employments figures showed another increase, thus confirming statement of automobile manufacturers as to the continuance of satisfactory business.

Railroad car loading figures continued good.

The absolute amount of cotton consumed by mills during May as compared with April was not accounted for merely by the greater number of working days in the latter month. May's takings corresponded almost exactly to the average for the last ten months which in turn were 23 per cent greater than in the corresponding period a year ago. Exports during the same time interval will have drawn slightly more than another six million bales from our supplies. As the actual yield of the last crop totalled only 8,300,000 bales, it was believed that the carry-over will have been reduced by approximately 4,000,000 bales. It would be, in fact, somewhat less than normal. Prospects for a full crop in the coming year meanwhile remained doubtful.

The week which brought unusually large financial transactions by the treasury passed without creating any disturbances in the money market These transactions which centered on June 15, included the collection of $300,000,000 in income taxes, the payment of $125,000,000 in interest on liberty bonds, the paying off of $380,000,000 in maturing certificates of indebtedness, the redemption of $250,000,000 in victory notes and the flotation of $250,000,000 in new certificates.

The rate on call money the most sensitive index of the market's condition, ruled at close to three points throughout the week and at 2 3-4 per cent touched what was virtually a new low score since 1920.

The reserve ratio of the combined federal reserve system receded slightly due to an increase in government deposits which in turn may be traced to the lion of June 5. Both note circulation and discounts were lower, circumstances which suggested that there was still no change from the tendency toward monetary ease.

Grain prices showed further weakness. The reaction coincided with those in securities and some quarters were considered to have suffered in sympathy with the latter. Reports from the midle west indicated meanwhile that the farmers improved their position materially and that they will make out fairly well without prices at a level correspondingly to one dollar a bushel for wheat at the primary markets. Competent observers believe that the farmers are not disposed to market wheat as rapidly as last year and if the price drops below one dollar the grain movement will be slow. In that case buying of general merchandise in the farming districts is expected to be correspondingly delayed.

Mrs. Hastings had been a resident of Lincoln for nearly twenty years. The Hastings family went to Omaha two years ago where Mr. Hastings is engaged in the practice of law.

Four Arrested and Fined Under the Prohibition Laws

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY Neb., June 19.—Deputy Sheriff Hedge, co-operating with local officers put in a big day in Buffalo county, making three arrests for violation of the prohibition act Ten miles from Ravenna they found Virgil Robinson and Matt Sands busily engaged in brewing up a mash in an exceptionally well made copper still. Two full barrels of mash and some of the finished product were annexed and the still was destroyed.

At the Will Fieldgrove place, two miles south of Ravenna, two gallons of alleged corn whisky was found and confiscated.

From Ravenna the officers worked south, to Shelton, where George Smith, druggist, was said to have been found to have unregistered in his stock quantities of alcoholic liquors, and selling it indiscriminately to the public.

A $100 fine and the costs was taxed in each instance, on every count levied against the men.

BROWN ADMITS HE ONCE WAS KNOWN AS ERNEST BUSCH

Desperado Declares That He Never Would Have Surrendered.

Fainted From Loss of Blood or Would Have Continued Fight.

(Special to The Star)

RAWLINS, Wyo., June 19.—"Why didn't I throw up my hands when odds were all against me, you ask. Well, odds are never against me as long as I have a gun. I never would have put up my dukes. I never would have given up if I had not fainted from loss of blood."

In this manner Omaha's wild man answered questions propounded to him in the first interview he has "granted" since his movie thriller through the mountains of Wyoming last week and his subsequent capture north of Medicine Bow Saturday.

On the eve of his departure for Omaha in custody of Nebraska State Sheriff Gus Hyers, where he will face a charge of having bound two women in log chains, assaulted them and kept them in a cellar for two days, Fred Brown, alias Gus Grimes, alias Ernest Busch, lay on his cot in the Wyoming state penitentiary here and told officers part but not all of the story of his escape from Omaha, his eventful trip to Lincoln and back again, his wounding of a patrolman in the Nebraska metropolis, his flight to Sidney, Nebr., his outwitting of officers there and finally his dash for the Boxelder Canyon country, where he once worked as sheepherder under what is believed to be his right name, Ernest Busch, and where he hoped to remain in hiding for three weeks and possibly longer. He was more than willing to tell how he had discomfited and gotten around authorities, but when he was asked concerning a series of crimes for which he will be held as a suspect, including three murders, for the most part he merely shrugged his shoulders.

He admitted nothing and denied nothing. Brown had so far recovered by Sunday night that Hyers planned to leave with him early Tuesday, arriving in Omaha Wednesday morning. And as he grew better he also grew more talkative. "You can't kid me partner, I've been kidded by experts. You're just kidding yourself, that's all," was the bandit's reply to several of the queries shot at him by Sheriff Hyers, Sanders and Carroll and Cheyenne and Rawlins newspaper men.

Throughout a half hour's running fire of questions and answers he maintained a half-defiant, half-amused attitude. He admitted tying up Omaha women whom he characterized as "a couple of street walkers," but refused to tell why he did it. Asked if it was because they had asked for his diamonds and had threatened to "squeal" when he turned them down, he gave a shrug of the shoulder. He denied all knowledge of the Seifkin murder committed in Omaha a short time before his affair with the women and wouldn't discuss the report that at the age of seventeen he "got his man" in Iowa He glorified in his work in leaving two Sidney officers bound up in their own suspenders and coming on west in possession of their rifle, jail keys and money. He reviewed his trip along Lincoln highway all the way from Omaha to Rockriver, Wyo., and gave exact details of escapades at various points along the route. He let slip the fact that he supposed he would get a life sentence following his forthcoming conviction, but he was tight to anything more serious than robberies and holdups. He owned up to the fact that some fifteen years ago he was Ernest Busch, sheepherder, and later got out of this state when accused of being a horse thief. He said he wouldn't talk of where he was raised or who his folks were and he merely waved his hand when asked if it were not true that his father was living in California under his correct name, Busch.

Could Not Use Rifle

"That's a hell of a question to ask a mad man," he said in response to one officer, and as he said it his eyes gleamed with laughter over the reports spread countrywide that he was insane.

"If I'd only had ammunition for that rifle I took off that Sidney marshall I would be sympathizing with you birds instead of you sympathizing with me," he declared, "I pathizing with me," he declared, "I should have bought some cartridges in Cheyenne. You can't do anything in these mountains without rifles; revolvers are no good. I wanted to get a crack at Carroll. He was too hot on my trail. If I had come face to face with Warden Fenton I would not have shot him He treated me square when I was in Nebraska penitentiary. I am only sorry I let myself get caught in that ditch. If it hadn't been for that you fellows could have looked for me till hell froze over. Oh, you are all right, I don't hold a grudge against any of you Your intentions are good enough—but you all know what road it is that is paved with good intentions Best time I had was at Sidney. When I saw those two boys and two officers coming toward me with their guns and acting as if they were scared stiff I said to myself, 'Boy, here's where you're in for some real fun,' and I sure did have it. Their suspenders came in mighty handy.

Dr. E. A. Kell of Rawlins acting physician at Wyoming penitentiary, said today Brown was getting along nicely and that unless unexpected complications set in he would be all over his wound in a few weeks.

MANY CRIMES CHARGED.

Brown Has Long List to Face When Returned to Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., June 19.—County and city authorities today began put which is to determine the fate of Fred Brown, Omaha "manacle man" provided he recovers from the bullet wound that resulted in his capture in Wyoming by a posse early Saturday.

Not in recent years have so many serious charges been made against one man as are being prepared against Brown, alias Ernest Bush, alias Gus Grimes according to authorities here.

Two charges of murder will head the list, according to Chief of Detectives Van Deusen. In addition there are three separate charges of kidnaping, a charge of assault with intent to kill, another charge of threatening to kill, as well as numerous legal actions for the theft of several automobiles in Omaha and Lincoln, resisting an officer while armed, forcibly entering a residence, assaulting and robbing officers with the possibility of charges of robbery being added to the list as a result of the discovery of a quantity of loot at his Benson shack, near here.

It was definitely announced by the detective chief here today that Brown will be charged with the murder off Charles and Robert Siefken, father and son, who were shot down when they frustrated an attempted oil filling station robbery here about a month ago.

The kidnaping charges result from the holding by Brown at his Benson shack May 27 and 28 of two local women who were manacled prisoners for thirty-six hours and the chaining of H. E Boyd who was made prisoner when he attempted to rescue them.

State Sheriff Gus Hyers is said to have had with him at the time of Brown's arrest yesterday a warrant charging Brown with the attempted murder of Walter Schroeder, a parole officer at who the "chain man" is alleged to have fired his revolver in one of his several escaped from officers in Lincoln.

DRUGGIST'S BILL IS STORM CENTER

Will Be Discussed During the State Pharmaceutical Convention at Fremont.

Proposed Law Is Drawn to Protect Public in Handling of Medicines.

FREMONT, Neb., June 19.—An expected fight on the proposed bill to be submitted to the next legislative assembly in Nebraska, raised the standards for admission to practice pharmacy, is looked for when the forty-first annual meeting of the Nebraska Pharmaceutical association convenes here tomorrow. This bill will come up for discussion at the meeting, and by the same token one of the largest attendances in the history of association annual meetings is expected.

For two years this bill has been a matter of discussion among the association members. On the one hand are arrayed professors and heads of schools of pharmacy who seek to take the "teeth" out of the proposed bill by curtailing the powers of the state department of public welfare and by making admission of new pharmacists more easy. On the other side is lined up the advocates of the proposed bill as it has been drafted by a legislative committee consisting of S. C. Wilson of Lincoln, chairman; Karl Kreizzinger of Shelby and H. H. Harley of Lincoln, who have declared for high standards of admission and severe penalties for pharmacists who have been convicted of misdemeanors or felonies in connection with the operation of their businesses.

At the annual meeting last summer a similar bill was up for discussion. At that time a spirited debate arose over the issues involved and it was decided to postpone action for a year in order for the legislative committee to go into the merits of the bill and draft it in new form.

As the proposed bill now stands provision is made for higher requirements for the liscentiate in pharmacy it proposes drastic penalties for violations and provides that a druggist, convicted of a felony shall have his license taken from him and that he be barred from further practice in the state.

Drafters of this bill declared that it was the aim of the committee and the convention to protect the public in the handling and dispensing of medicines and to do justice to the conscientious pharmacist, who through years of study and preparation, has passed his examination before the state board of examiners and has been duly licensed to practice his profession.

Provisions of Measure.

The bill, as drafted, provides that the state board of public welfare shall prescribe the standards of pharmacy schools providing candidates for the pharmaceutical examinations. The professors and heads of schools having to do with the teaching of pharmacy, declare that this provision is objectionable since it puts too much power into the hand of the state board. The standards, they declare, should be set by the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties. They will fight for another provision not in the drafted bill. This is a section requiring that the welfare board be required to keep all examination papers on file subject to public inspection at any time. They assert that there has been a tendency in some states for politics and favoritism in admitting candidates.

The committee drafting the bill has provided that no person may be a candidate for the pharmacy examination who is not a high school graduate, or the equivalent, and who has not had at least two years practical work in a school of pharmacy. The bill further provides that no person shall be permitted to sell drugs or medicines in a store unless that store is registered. It provides that no drug store shall be permitted to operate as such unless there is employed there a registered pharmacist who may supervise the compounding of prescriptions.

While the two factions are expected to debate over the provision of the bill, W. E. Clayton of Grand Island, president of the association announces that his address will deal with problems that confronts the pharmacist today and tomorrow, with an appeal for harmony in the state association. He will touch upon the main points in the proposed new law.

The convention will conclude its session on June 22.

BUFFALO TO HAVE BIG POTATO CROP

Hundreds of Thousands of Bushels of Spuds In Prospect.

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., June 19.—The potato acreage in the Platte valley, where under irrigation, has been plentifully watered during the past few days but that small portion of the acreage not under ditch or well is beginning to suffer for want of moisture. For the most part growers are highly elated with their prospects for the season, although the crop is in its crucial stage at this time.

The district comprises approximately four thousand acres and probably in excess of that figure. It is estimated by County Agent Ludden that the total yield, in the Kearney district, will be no less than a half million bushels this season.

Raisers of cabbage, east of Kearney, are fighting the Harlequin bug with a dust spray, composed of plenty of lime and some arsenate of lead, with great success. At least 40 per cent of the seed plants set out, however, failed to germinate and consequently the yield will be far below normal. Home cabbage has already made its appearance on the market. Generally speaking crops over the county are in need of rains. It is doubtful if any damage has been sustained up to this time, with the possible exception of the oats acreage, the latter being greatly in need of moisture. While wheat would also be benefitted by an inch or two of rain, even though the harvesting stage is only about two weeks ahead.

If a record of productivity of the vegetable acreage is available in the county this season it would undoubtedly show one of the greatest yields in history. At no time have the truck patches netted such fine yields of early maturing vegetables, with a fair prospect of the later seasonal varieties running a close second. Fruit is likewise to be had in abundance and of exceptional quality.

A general review of the crop situation over the county, and adjoining counties, is sure to create an optimistic tendency, even though some "if and ands" may be injected.

Falls From Pony; Fractures Skull

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., June 19.—A serious accident befell Eldridge Herdlitchka son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Herdlitchka, when he fell from his pony in the vicinity of the family home six miles northeast of Table Rock. Eldridge and a chum har been riding their ponies around the country and about four o'clock they parted, Eldridge starting home. A little later Ed Shurtleff was passing that way and discovered the boy lying beside the road, his pony standing by his side. The little fellow was taken home, a physician at once summoned and an examination showed he had suffered a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain and blood was issuing from his right ear. He remained in an unconscious condition until about two o'clock the following morning, when he was able to give an account of how the accident happened. He was galloping along with the reins hanging loose and just as he grasped the horn of the saddle, the pony stumbled and threw him off, he lighting on his head and shoulders. Indications point to his recovery.

Steady Help Short On Farms at Wahoo

WAHOO, Neb., June 19.—It has been almost impossible for farmers to obtain "by the month" help during the past 10 days in this vicinity, according to the county agricultural agent. It appears, he says, that the men have either gone to the harvest field or are waiting for harvest.

Harvest wages in this vicinity are expected to range around the $3.00 per day mark.

Dunphy Attributes Movement Against Him To Spite Work

OMAHA, Neb., June 19.—Petitions asking for his removal would never have been circulated had he not been out of town on his honeymoon, declared A. R. Dunphy, superintendent of the central division of the air mail service, in a formal statement replying to charges of inefficiency and inexperience contained in the petitions which were circulated by certain air mail pilots.

Mr. Dunphy in the statement said the movement for his removal was conducted by two pilots who were not allowed to take government property for their personal use. "The primary reason for the movement to replace me is that I have not allowed certain pilots to have their own way," the statement said.

He said that the majority of the pilots of the division were in favor of his supervision.

Answering charges of inexperience and inefficiency, Mr. Dunphy said that his division had operated at thousands of dollars less cost than the other two divisions of the service for the same mileage.

DID HIM MORE GOOD THAN ALL ELSE COMBINED

S. J. Anderson Declares He Was Much Improved In Short Time When He Started Taking Tanlac — Had Suffered Nearly 25 Years.

"My trouble has been pulling me down for well nigh twenty-five years, but I have been steadily improving since taking Tanlac," said S. J. Anderson, 621 S. Lawrence St., Wichita, Kas., valued employe of the Massey Iron Co.

"I had a most stubborn case of stomach trouble, had no appetite and what little I did force down soured on my stomach and caused gas. My head ached nearly every day and I had pains all through my body. It was always hard for me to get any sleep and when morning came I simply had to force myself off to work.

"Well, now I have a fine appetite, eat about anything without trouble afterwards and all my troubles are fast leaving me. I want to say Tanlac has done me more good than everything else I ever tried put together."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

KNOWING OUR OWN COUNTRY.

Until recently a considerable number of scientists held to the belief that the lines on Mars, which were visible by use of a high-powered telescope, were gigantic canals constructed by the alleged Martians. This notion has since been generally discarded, but consider the converse. Suppose there are people living on Mars and that they have miraculously powerful telescopes which would enable them to view the earth. Covering that part of the globe known as the United States they would see a net-work of shiny threads, glistening like silver and stretching from ocean to ocean and from the Canadian border to the gulf. The threads are the highways which have been built since the advent of the automobile. Through mountainous country and across hot deserts, east and west, north and south, they knit together vast domains which a century ago were virtually impassable. The Lincoln motorist who fared forth yesterday, was obvious of the scores of tourists with luggage packed on side of car, who were hurrying from one part of the United States to another.

These innumerable highways mean something more than mere accommodations for pleasure-seekers; they serve other purposes than to provide the farmer a better road to market. They make it possible for thousands of American citizens to know their own state and the United States as they would never know them if they depended upon travel by train. The farmer, when harvesting is finished, takes his family in the automobile and is off for a two or three weeks' vacation. The city dweller does likewise. On the highways one meets tourists who come from all walks of life, who are, for some fifty weeks of the year, engaged in all kinds of work. It is not the sole pleasure of the wealthy man; democracy is exemplified by the the thousands of people who take advantage of the splendid roads.

It is, scarcely necessary to enumerate the benefits which will accrue to any nation whose people become better acquainted with its resources, its beauties and its topography. The Nebraskan who tours across his state will have a greater love and a greater appreciation of Nebraska, and the man who tours across many states will be a better citizen for having had a first-hand knowledge of America's wealth of beauty and possibilities. It is a certainty that these thousands of miles of well constructed highways which have been flung like a net across our land will be a genuine source of benefit to the citizenry of America.

THE STRIKE SYSTEM.

In the midst of the nation-wide bituminous coal strike, the chiefs of ten railroad unions announce their intention to precipitate a strike in that industry if the wages of more than a million workers are reduced as ordered by the United States railroad board. The strike, or rather, the threat to strike, remains as the only method for settling labor disputes, so it seems.

It is true that most strikes are never called; they are simply used as a threat and even the present coal strike, though bound to prove costly in the end, is causing no great inconvenience at the present time. But it is a sad commentary upon American ingenuity that the clumsy, costly and inequitable strike must prevail. There is never a winner in a strike though sometimes one side or the other gets what it asks for and loses less than the other side. The public is invariably a heavy loser.

It is incredible that industrial America will go along much longer without a more workable and just method for settling labor disputes. The fact that one nation-wide strike is now in process and another is threatened indicates a weakness in existing methods for arbitration. Just what reforms are needed in the arbitration methods are not apparent, but the next decade should see practical results in this field.

THE WHEAT HARVEST.

The great manufacturing industries of the eastern states have been pushed aside so far as the middle west is concerned, to make way for a greater and more vital activity, that of reaping the millions of acres of wheat which stretch from Texas to the Dakotas. Already the binders are singing their way in the south and even in central Kansas some wheat has already been put in the shock. Last week's hot dry winds in the Nebraska wheat area will speed the ripening of the grain in this state and some wheat may be cut before the week has ended.

It is estimated that Nebraska will produce more than fifty-seven million bushels of winter wheat. The wheat yield in Oklahoma and Kansas will be enormous. Grain cut a week ago in Oklahoma and southern Kansas made as high as thirty-five bushels to the acre. It is not to wonder that the interest in manufacturing industries is of minor consequence at the present time. The wheat harvest, followed in the autumn by the corn gathering, represents the greatest industry of the nation. Factories, mills and commerce are built upon the agricultural industry of the United States. That is why the biggest thing in this country today is the harvesting of the golden wheat, golden not only in color but in wealth.

AFFAIRS IN EUROPE.

Reports from Russia indicate that the benefits of the American relief administration in that country are not confined solely to the saving of human lives. The following dispatch from Moscow is an illuminating answer to the question, Can business be done in Russia, and if so how?" Says the dispatch:

"The fact is that business already is being done in Russia and the indications are that every month will see more of it. It is not big business, but it is business. The communists were unable to stop small trading even by threats of death which often were carried out.

"Trade in foreign moneys, the exchange of paper rubles for Russian gold or for American bank notes, the most favorite money, is still prohibited, but it goes on merrily in Moscow a few doors from the headquarters of the once powerful Cheka, or secret police. It goes on everywhere.

"International trading for food is conducted in the so-called famine districts, of which, to say the truth, there is none, for all Russia is a famine zone. Goods show up in stores that are blandly stated to come from hidden stocks or out of government warehouses, when frequently they really come from over the frontier in hand bags or as freight labeled 'political documents.'

"The American relief administration has helped to stimulate the freedom of life and property which has made trading more free. It has helped to change the spirit of the communists, to whom every trader represented the hated capitalists or the speculator whose deserved fate was a Cheka prison or firing squad. The A. R. A. men go everywhere and are breaking down these old barriers of hatred.

"The Americans were at first opposed everywhere, but their patience and good will, and, finally, harsh orders from higher officials, have dissipated the undercurrent of opposition.

The first American ships to the Odessa port bearing food have given heart to the ragged workmen and have shot new life into the port.

"Life-giving business is in the air and coming as surely as the flowers of spring. The people know it and respond."

The communist government of Lenine and Trotzky was built ostensibly upon the theory that capitalism is a sin. Seizing the old Marxian theory as a cloak for their autocratic operations, the soviet leaders were enabled to gain the control of helpless Russia. But as the people come to understand the meaning of capitalism, in its true sense, the leaders must either abandon this fallacious argument or lose their power. Capitalism is stored energy. Man in his days of vigor labors diligently to provide for old age. That, in brief, is the substance of capitalism, but by erroneous reasoning the communists have built a false definition of the word. Sooner or later this false notion will break down and then Russia will come into her own.

NEAR EVEREST'S TOP.

The news from Mount Everest, under date of May 22, that Mallory, Somerville and Major Norton had climbed, without using oxygen, to a height of 26,800 feet and return to a base camp at 25,000 feet, records an achievement in mountain climbing that presages the attainment of an altitude near the summit of the peak, if not final success. The height of Everest is said to be 29,002 feet. When the Duke of the Abruzzi reached 24,583 feet (the previous record), thick fog and an ugly cornice stopped him) but he was in good physical condition.

No one will be more surprised than Professor Dreyer of Oxford, by the endurance of Mallory and his companions. Early in the year the professor conducted experiments with oxygen in a pressure chamber to determine how high climbers could safely go without a portable tank of oxygen. He concluded that it would be advisable to begin using the gas at about 23,000 feet. Yet General Bruce's mountaineers got up to 26,800 feet without it! Whether the last 2,202 feet present insuperable obstacles may be doubted. Unpropitious weather has, of course, to be reckoned with. If there have not been gales and snow precipitation in the first part of June, the presumption is that the siege of Everest went on.

The question to be determined was whether the last 2,202 feet could be gained with or without oxygen. It was believed that at least one camp higher than 25,000 feet would have to be made. Could the collies be depended on to carry up the camp supplies? At the greatest altitude, not far above 20,000 feet, which they strained up to with the reconnoissance party last summer, they were near the exhaustion point. The climbers would have to carry their own oxygen bottles, with mask and tube attachment, the weight of which is thirty-two pounds. The higher they worked their way up, the harder it would be to endure the extra load. An ingenious plan had been devised on paper to establish oxygen "dumps" by stages, so that one man at least, with four bottles on his back, could climb at least 1,000 or 500 feet and have enough of the gas left to get back to the last camp. It was feared, however, that at the highest altitudes no one would be able to support the oxygen pack. If Everest is finally conquered, it may turn out that oxygen played no part on the last "lap."—New York Times.

THE YEAR'S PEAK.

"What is so rare as a day in June?" asks Lowell. Certainly, there can be but one answer—nothing. The month of June has more happy associations or memories for most of us than any month in the year.

This is no accident. Nature has made June one of the chosen months. It is the month of transition from spring to summer, when all outdoors is at its best. The heat of July, the aridity of August have not yet paled with age the soft greens nor shriveled the flowers.

And June is the month in which the whole world "graduates." The commencements have their counterpart in field and wood.

What a season of happiness June brings! No wonder it is the bridal month. Its days are indeed rare. Its tempting sunshine writes happiness over everything and even though humdrum duties detain us from its enjoyment, at least it invokes happy memories of other June days.

No he-man can look June in the face without thinking of fishing, especially in Minnesota where the lakes and rivers abound in fish. From early youth June has been the month when school's out and we could go swimmin' and fishin'. And even though one has moved away from that notion along life's highway, the memories of those other Junes endure.

June is the peak of the year. It holds the longest day. It combines the beauty of the heights with the restful pause associated with the summit. It is a season of optimism. Once we have passed over its peak the year is half done. What we do with June's rare days may determine our feeling toward the last six months. It is so even in life. It is youth that determines the man. And June is a youthful month, with happiness as its keynote.—The Minneapolis Journal.

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

THE FROWNING OVERLORD.

He goes grimly in the morning to a richly paneled room,
Where his nod may mean good fortune or his frown be some one's doom;
He has but to press a button, and a lively scurry starts,
By a word he causes sorrow to creep into happy hearts.

He is lord and he is master; he can give or take away:
Men who think that they have freedom hear his order and obey;
He can cause their wives and children to be pale and desolate;
Unaware of their existence, he is master of their fate.

Many men depend upon him for the pleasures they derive,
By his grace their prayers are answered, or their hopes are kept alive;
He is overlord and ruler, and his subjects, being meek,
Heed as if he were a Caesar when it pleases him to speak.

What cares he for their ambitions or the plans they dare to make;
He is busy with great matters where men's fortunes are at stake;
By a friendly word in passing he could brighten the dark days,
But that might encourage some one to be asking for a raise.

IN AND OUT.

People go up in airships, into the ocean, down in mines, and even into prisons to be married. When they wish to be unmarried they go to court. There are many ways of getting into trouble; the way out usually is steep and slippery.

YES, INDEED.

"An individualist, my son? Well, did you ever observe a fire captain on his day off joyriding the wrong way through a series of one-way streets? You did? Well that, my boy, is an individualist."

"WELL, IT WAS LIKE THIS"——

Everyone can always find a "very good reason" for deeds, misdeeds or no deeds at all. Even a crook tries to explain to the judge.

Peaches and Persimmons

Mayonnaise dressing is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence.

Corsets for men! Ugh! Suppose a fellow should get one on and forget the combination.

"It" is a vague and meaningless pronoun until some man says: "I know where you can get it."

Be modest. The smaller the diamond, the better its chance to escape the charge of being paste.

There's one consolation. The twisted face of the tenor in the choir indicates that he is suffering as much as you are.

The proof of a people's ignorance lies in the number of things it is afraid to make a joke about.

We seldom envy those who are far ahead of us, but only those of our own class who are one jump ahead.

Just because a law is necessary, humanitarian and reasonable, it doesn't always follow that it is unconstitutional.

Peanuts are a versatile family. In the summer they serve at ball games and in the fall they serve in politics.

It is the duty of every man to learn enough about the radio to take an intelligent interest in the conversation.

When the wife's away, the devil's to pay.

Our friends are those in whom we imagine good qualities; our enemies are those in whom we imagine bad qualities.

There is little demand for fairy tales now; but one with that kind of imagination can become a war correspondent.

It might save wear and tear in the courts by granting marriage licenses for one year with the privilege of renewing.

It's a hard life. If you live in the lowlands, the floods will get you; and if you live in the mountains, the revenue men will get you.

"A BRUTE OF A BEE"

The bumblebee which flew into the automobile driven by an Indiana girl, and occupied by several other girls, was beyond a doubt "a perfect brute of a bee" like the insect in a nonsense poem once much quoted.

How "Uncle John" Honaker, an engineer upon the Bloomfield branch of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, averted disaster by setting a fat thumb down firmly upon an impaired valve from which steam was escaping and keeping the valve head closed by feeding into it more fat thumb as the live steam scalded away the flesh was a golden legend of courage which fired the imagination of lads along the line years ago.

Keeping a scalded thumb against a jet of steam was a task to test the courage of a man, but women have endured courage tests quite as difficult, and proved the female of the species fully as heroic as the male.

Curfew didn't "ring tonight" because feminine courage prevented it in circumstances as painful as the circumstances in which "Uncle John," Honaker steamed his thumb down to a stump for the honor and glory of the service, or merely because lifetime loyalty to duty bade him do the only thing that could be done when something had to be done instantly.

A bumblebee at the very worst can only sting. To endure its sting would not be an act of considerable heroism if the punishment were taken deliberately and for any high purpose. But in the effect of the unexpected intrusion of a bee upon the average feminine equilibrium is upsetting. That it upset the automobile in this case is not suprising. That nobody was killed is a matter of good luck.

"If you sneeze," said the aviator in an early period of the development of the airplane, "you lose control and what happens next you may not live to tell. Therefore you don't sneeze."

But you have a warning of an impending sneeze. You know for an instant it's coming. For example you're Juliet in the play, Romeo has said:

"But soft. What light is thnnig'o

"But soft. What light is that through yonder window breaks? It is the East, and Juliet is the sun."

Juliet has sighed.

Romeo bursts forth:

"She speaks. O speak again, bright angel."

For Juliet to sneeze would be quite as bad for an aviator to do so, so she doesn't. She knows what to do to prevent it in the event of the peril of an approaching sneeze. But a brute of a bee arrives unheralded and there is no time in which the will may fortify the feminine nerves. Even Juliet would leap "out of character."

Courage sufficiently high to make the sacrifice of life possible isn't the quality which makes it possible to keep attention centered upon the steering wheel and the boy ahead on the bicycle, when a bumble bee and an automobile meet in head-on collision.

A woman's pen transformed a drop of ink into these lines:

"His labor is a chant,
His idleness a tune;
Oh, for the bee's experience
Of clovers and of noon."

But could the author have kept an automobile out of a ditch had a bumblebee come bumbling out of a blue sky over the hood and through the ventilating windshield?

Destiny Enters a Squalid Home and Favors Poor Boy

NEW YORK, June 19.—Alfred Floegel, a slight, dark German, a naturalized American, was last night awarded the Prix de Rome, given by the American academy in Rome for his imaginative moral, "Music."

Not so many days ago, he kalsomined the walls of a restaurant in return for a meal.

It is a coincident that last year, destiny entered another squalid abode, brought forth Frank Schwarz just before he was to be evicted for non-payment of rent, and awarded him the same prize. Schwarz and Floegel were born in the same city, Leipsig. Several days ago, kindly neighbors went to a Yorkville court and obtained a stay of an eviction writ against Floegel.

But he is obvilious of his poverty now.

The Prix de Rome carries an income of $1,000 annually for three years, free residence at the academy and opportunity to travel.

Theology Degrees Awarded to Five Nebraska Students

BOSTON, Mass., June 19.—Arthur L. Pratt of Lincoln, Neb., was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology at the annual commencement of Boston university held in Symphony hall Monday morning. Four other Nebraska students were also awarded the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology: A. Byron Albertson of Morrill, Carroll D. Hildebrand of Doniphan, George S. Morrell of Douglas, and Russell E Waitt of Omaha. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy was conferred upon Benjamin D. Scott of University Place.

Over 650 degrees were conferred by President L. H. Murlin upon the largest graduating class in the history of the University. This is an increase of 200 over the 450 degrees granted last June. This large number was due to the fact that Boston university now has over 9,800 students enrolled, exclusive of extra-mural courses.

Dr. John F. McConnell of Pittsburgh, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, delivered the commencement address on the subject, "Social Imagination," before the faculties, graduates and 2000 guests

SIR ROBERT PHILP DEAD

BRISBANE, Queensland, June 19.—The death is announced of Sir Robert Philp, twice premier to Queensland. He was born in Glasgow in 1851.

Rambling through Nebraska.

BY C. DURANT JONES.

Oakland has no commercial organization but it is planned to form one soon. However, that does not mean that there is no community activity there, for there is a lot of it. Editor C. G. Carlton and Banker Uehling loaded the Rambler into a car the other day and drove through the fine park they are just now improving at an expense of something like $12,000. They are putting down an eight inch well, between 300 and 400 feet deep, building a swimming pool 65 x 120 feet, and a fine bath house. The pool is costing $7,300 alone, being especially well built. It is so strongly reinforced that it will be free from the seams so often found in such pools, when constructed of concrete.

The park contains forty acres and was opened to the public last year. Much of the preliminary work on the building of the park was done by voluntary labor, at times there being as many as 200 men working, all giving their services cheerfully. That is the spirit of the Oakland people. An arm of Local creek runs through the park and the boosters are going to construct a beautiful lagoon. In order that the park might be artistically and correctly planned, a landscape architect was secured to map out the work. The bath house will be commodious, and there is already a very fine bandstand on the grounds. They have a fine ball park and are now planning a golf course. In one section of the park is the tourist camping ground, and the boosters travelled out about ten miles in all directions, and posted signs inviting the tourists to avail themselves of Oakland's hospitality. Another section is reserved for picnics, and this section is being used right along and is thoroughly appreciated.

Another evidence of the public spiritedness of the Oakland citizenry is seen in the splendid fair grounds standing at the southwest corner of town. For some years the fair was held on leased grounds and with old buildings. Last year, while the financial strain was at its height, $10,600 was raised and expended in the purchase of suitable grounds and in the erection of new buildings. Further improvements will be made as rapidly as possible, and the fair will grow in value and importance as well as the appreciation of that whole section of Nebraska.

But it is not alone to material things that the booster spirit of Oakland is devoted. The higher arts as well as the mechanical arts appeal to them, too. The people of the community maintain imense musical organizations, a choral union, which has a membership of sixty of the best singers to be found in the state. A director from Omaha is secured each year, and three great concerts are put on annually.

Oakland is a Swedish community To one familiar with the characteristics of the Swedish people, it is no secret that they run much to home building. Oakland presents no exceptions to that rule. It is their claim, and we see no reason to dispute it, that there is a higher average of residences, as to quality and beauty, than will be found in any other town in the state. They do not claim that they have the most costly as they know better, but they claim that their residences will show a higher average, in all those qualities that make for good homes, than will be found elsewhere. Before anyone is ready to dispute this statement, he should drive over the town and take careful note of the residences, and then he wont feel like disputing it.

Say, boy, keep your eye on R. E. Nunemaker, of Laurel, or rather who lives near Laurel. He has just planted a small melon patch, containing only something like seventeen acres. For some years he has been raising melons with excellent success, but his planting this year is the largest he ever undertook, and it is probably the largest melon patch in northeast Nebraska. The melons have always been of fine quality, and his reputation as a melon grower has reached a territory so extensive, that it has never been possible for him to ship any of them out. They come and get them. People drive for fifteen and twenty miles to get their melon supply and there have been days when almost a hundred cars called at the farm for the toothsome product.

One reason why Seward keeps things moving is found in their big chamber of commerce, which has a membership of 275, a membership that towns of several times that size would be proud to possess. It is made up of business men and farmers, and they get together for a dinner once a week. To add to the interest of the occasion, a speaker is imported who has a message the people ought to, and want to, hear. Under this weekly inspiration, it is not strange that there are many important topics discussed and many good suggestions acted upon. Seward is a town of about 2,500 and it owns enough automobiles that if it ever becomes necessary for the city to go somewhere in a hurry, the entire population could climb into the cars, with plenty of room, crank up, and in a few minutes, be there.

When the Shriners' train passed through Fremont the other night, on its way to California, said Shriners being good advertisers, they blew a big siren whistle that they carried with them. It was about 11 o'clock, the hour when all good firemen should be in bed. The whistle sounded exactly like the one the city of Fremont uses to announce a fire. The faithful firemen piled out of bed and made a hurry up run for the scene of the supposed fire. Chief Harry S. Morse registers an objection to the practice and pleads for some different way of showing a booster spirit, one that won't fool the members of his company. He is right. Something less than a hundred years ago, the Rambler studied in his little old school reader, of the boy who cried, "The wolf! The wolf!" when there was no wolf, to fool the people. He fooled them all right, but when the wolf finally came, and attacked his sheep, he gave the same cry, but the people came not.

FEDERAL JUDGE SETS NEW MARK IN LAW CASES

Judge Jacob Trieber.

Judge Jacob Trieber of the eastern district of Arkansas is a lawyer, naturally, but a lawyer of few words. And he has no time to listen, to his brother lawyers when they start speaking in his court. As a result he disposes of an average of ten cases a day.

When a Girl Marries

CHAPTER 672

The astonishment with which I'd heard myself acknowledging to Ralph Lacy that we were friends didn't last. In its place came a feeling that we'd always been friends and always would be. So when I went back to carry his message to Miss May it was with feelings divided between the loyal wish to cheer her and the equally loyal wish to say nothing that would give her any inkling of his plans. He'd managed to convey to me the idea that he wanted them kept secret, so I hardly knew what to say and what not to say until Miss May gave me my cue.

"You look perfectly satisfied," she cried. "It's just the way I knew you'd look after you and Ralph got your heads together."

"I like your assurance," I laughed. "What magic do you think we've worked?"

"Oh, you told Ralph that I'd made a mess of things. He was sorry and sympathetic—not scornful as I let myself fear. So he probably sent for that stubborn, overgrown boy Houdley and persuaded him, for the honor of the family—that's me—to go through with selling his hat business."

"Nothing like that," I confessed. "Ralph wasn't disgusted with me," gasped Miss May, reverting to the panicky feelings she'd given way to early in the morning.

"Not at all. He seemed completely to understand that—that you'd done your best," I declared with growing sense of certainty. "In fact he seemed positive that you'd builded better than you knew. He gave me the impression that something good was bound to come of your plans. He said you'd set a train of fine and dandy circumstances in motion. He said you'd done something big. He insisted that you haven't failed."

"If he said all that, it's true, and I know he did, for you wouldn't be putting me off," said Miss May complacently. "I mean as long as Ralph says it's all right it is. But I wish he didn't have to be making up excuses for me and allowing for me like the silly old woman I am."

"I haven't conveyed his message to you clearly. Nor his spirit," I confessed. "Else you'd know that he isn't making up excuses. He's hiding something big up his sleeve." And it's as if you'd knitted the sleeve, with plenty of room for big things to hide. I think your 'Ralph' is planning a coup de'tat. And he's building it on leads fro you. Can't you trust him as I do."

At this Miss May did a surprising thing. She leaned forward in her chair and stared at me fixedly. Then she said in the queerest half chuckling tone.

"Certainly I can trust him as you do. Ralph isn't your nephew, he's mine. And besides he has the most honest gray eyes I ever looked into."

"All of which is a trifle irrelevant," I replied with every bit of dignity I could muster. "But as long as you aren't breaking your heart over your good intentions, and since you believe they won't be wasted, I guess my mission has accomplished its purpose."

"I'd like to know what that boy's up to!" chuckled Miss May. "I just feel as if every bit of the responsibility was on his shoulders now. And I kind of like it that way. I don't feel as ambitious as I thought I did. Ralph kind of affects you that way, don't he?"

"Yes, he does," I confessed absentmindedly.

"And you just look at those steady light gray eyes of his and keep looking in between his thick lashes and you know you can't any more get to the bottom of his big soul than see all the way into his eyes," contiqued Miss May.

I smiled at the way the dear little old soul was rhapsodizing. On she went briskly:

"If I had a little sister, I'd marry her off to that boy or know why! He's the dearest, steadest, squarest, man, isn't he?"

"He's all of that—though I'm inclined to reserve my superlatives for my husband," I laughed, permitting myself to laugh aloud.

Miss May bridled and shook her head at me with the utmost seriousness as she flung back:

"If your husband's half the man Ralph Lacy is, Mrs. Harrison, you can be proud of him. There's enough good in that boy for six full-sized men. Well, to business," she added briskly, shutting off a quick retort that had leaped to my lips in defense of Jim. "When is Ralph going to accomplish his miracle and turn my defeat into victory?"

"He said we'd hear from him tonight," I replied, nor could I forego adding, "Miss May, since you like nice boys so much, I'm looking forward to having you meet Jim. He's boyish and yet he absolutely is the head of the family. He's all man—and strong and handsome—with a fascination and an unexpetedness that make ordinary men seem very prosy."

"Ralph Lacy is no ordinary man," replied Miss May.

I didn't answer. If anyone else had shown so partisan a spirit I'd have declared that she was hardly courteous. But I realized that my little partner had given her loyalty once and for all to the two fine boys who had treated her with such chivalry and such an air of real affection and devotion. After all, I'd hardly like her if she didn't stand up for them even at the cost of seeming to question Jim's superiority.

It didn't occur to me until afterward that it wasn't for 'them' she was standing up, but just for Ralph Lacy. With a smile I accepted her dictum that he is no ordinary man, and letting that stand as my answer, I plunged into the day's work.

It was late afternoon when Ralph Lacy telephoned to ask for what he termed "an extension of time on putting through the May deal."

"Wait, I'll put her on the wire," I said with a brisk, businesslike tone I felt somehow driven to assume.

"All right," came back crispiy. "Only if you can manage to stay on your wire, too, and listen in you'll get a lot that you might not be able to read between the lines if you heard my classic remarks at second hand."

I mentioned Miss May to take up the receiver on her desk and heard Ralph Lacy's tone deepen a bit with something very sweet and gentle in its intonations.

"Hello, Aunt May, here's your priority-claim nephew! I'm working on that proposition of yours, but if you'll give me until Monday to report I think I can use the days over the week-end to the greatest advantage. Is that O. K.?"

"It certainly is O. K., Ralph. I think it's wonderful of you to save me from my bad generalship. I must have antagonized Max Hoadley somehow. Do you think you can win him over? And are you saving Park from the disappointment I've almost brought upon him?"

The concern in her voice was very real, and Mr Lacy replied with due consideration for it:

"Park is going to win out. You wait and see. He believes in you little lady, just as you did in Santa when you were four. But he won't wake up to find you a myth. Wait till you see what the reindeers are bringing down the chimney for him. I'll break it to you Monday over the lunch table. And please tell your partner she is invited."

After that the conversation maderated away into good-bys which blurred into nothingness with a sudden cut-in which resolved itself into Carlotta saying "Hello."

"Anne, I've got to see you," she cried without preliminary. Her words tumbled over each other with an almost breathless effect. "I've had a telegram from Tony. Need I say more over the phone?"

"Don't say another word, dear, beyond telling me where to meet you and when," I replied, held to an almost breathless brevity by the throbbing tension of Carlotta's voice.

MEMBER LABOR BOARD FORECASTS END RAIL STRIFE

Ben Hooper Says An Adjustment Will Come Without Strike.

Alleges Carriers Abandoning "Farming" Methods Will Be Great Factor.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 19.—Railroad chiefs were marking time today while employes of the road were marking strike ballots.

By July 1, the date $136,000,000 in wage cuts ordered by the United States railway labor board becomes effective, the strike referendum will be completed, and the national will probably know whether it faces an actual rail strike and a threatened transportation war.

Developments of the last twenty-four hours included:

A statement by Ben W. Hooper, the chairman of the railroad labor board, predicting an adjustment of the railroad situation without a strike and peace on the roads by next fall.

Statements to the board by leaders of the rail unions condemning the wage reductions and serving notice that a strike if favored in the referendum, will be sanctioned by the union chiefs.

Word from Washington that President Harding intends to back up the board, which has no power itself under the transportation act, to enforce its decisions.

Abandon "Farm" Methods.

Gradual abandonment by the carriers of their system of putting shop work out at contract, a system which has been one of the barriers to peace was predicted by Mr. Hooper. Following the lead of the southern Pacific, other roads are expected to speedily do away with labor contracts, the board chairman said.

Referring to charges by a leading railroad periodical that the board was completely dominated by the wishes of labor organization and to more recent accusations by the unions that the wage reductions were a "miscarriage of justice," Mr. Hooper asserted that "a discriminating public will find the truth at a point about half way between these two extremes."

If the unions and the railroads respect the decisionsof the board a fair minded public will stand for nothing else, he declared.

The strike referendum is expected to be completed by next Sunday, five days in advance of the wage reductions. Early balloting and tabulation of the returns was urged by B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, so the employes can be advised of the result by the time their pay checks go under the pruning knife June 1.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Vacation Resources Of State Shown by Highway Guide Book

The Nebraska Automobile association has received 5,000 copies of its 1922 Nebraska Highway guide book and is distributing them to its agents and information bureaus in the state. The book lists the recreational facilities of Nebraska, such as parks, ball grounds, golf courses, swimming pools, athletics clubs, hunting and fishing grounds, camping-out places and places of scenic and historic interest. Accommodation facilities are also listed; hotels, restaurants, tourist camps and garages and repair shops. The book shows that Nebraska is quite rich in recreational resources and that people need not go abroad for their vacations.

The associations has just received the first shipment of radiator emblems. They are in the form of a blue and gold wheel upon which is superimposed a silver-plated map of the state.

Recent additions to the association staff are Grant G. Martin, formerly attorney general and supreme court commissioner, who is president of the organization, and former senator Herman Diers of York county, an agency director.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 19.

The further remarkable advance of Mexican Petroleum was the dominate development of today's dull stock market. Other oils and some of the industrials and specialties also strengthened, but rails reflected latest labor conditions. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

AD N Y METALS

The week in the stock market began with a resumption of the recent irregular movement. Notice served on the railroad labor board by the unions of their intention to call a strike, invited further short selling. Market letters issued by prominent commission houses advising caution also added to the selling movement. Mexican Petroleum was the conspicuous feature, opening at a gain of 1¾ points, reacting 1 point and then rallying 1½ points. Pan-American Petroleum also strengthened, but the general list soon yielded to pressure. Losses of large fractions to 1 point were made by Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, preferred, Studebaker, Anaconda, Baldwin Locomotive and United States Steel. Foreign exchange displayed increased weakness, especially British, French and Dutch rates.

Trading settled down to nominal proportions during the morning, but the drive against shorts in Mexican Petroleum became more effective. That stock, leaping at a premium, extended its early gain to 7½ points. Pan-American A and B shares rose 2 to 2¾ points and General Asphalt, Standard Oil of California, California Petroleum, Texas and Pacific Oil were strong. Gulf States Steel made an extreme rise of 3½ points but others of that group were heavy with rails, shippings and equipments. Atlas Powder stood out among the minor specialties on a point rise and gains of 1 to 2 points were made in tobaccos, leathers and some of the coppers. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

Mexican Petroleum overshadowed all other feautres in the final hour, making an extreme rise of 17½ points, before realizing sales set in. The close was firm.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, June 19.

WHEAT—General selling induced by cooler weather and by rains where needed in the domestic winter wheat crop belt did a good deal to carry prices downward today during the early dealings. Expected liberal arrivals of new wheat this week at primary centers tended further to depress values. Besides, a fall in sterling exchange was also given attention as a bearish factor. Opening quotations, which varied from ⅜ to 1½c lower, July, $1.10¾ to $1.11 and September $1.12¼ to $1.12½, were followed by a material further setback all around.

Numerous small rallies took place but they failed to last. No aggressive buying developed. The close was heavy, 1⅞ to 1¾c net lower, with July 1.10 to 1.10⅛ and September $1.10¾ to $1.10⅞.

CORN—Corn and oats descended with wheat. After opening unchanged to ½@⅝c off, with July 61⅝c to 61½c, the corn market continued to fall.

Announcement of an increase of more than 2,000,000 bushels in the visible supply total was a surprise. The market closed steady, ¼ to ⅜c net lower with July 61¼c.

OATS—Oats started ⅛ to ¼ to ⅜c lower. July 33⅞c to 34c and later underwent an additional sag.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

Duluth Flax.

DULUTH, June 19.

FLAXSEED—July, $2.46; September, $2.41 bid; October, $2.41 bid.

Favorable weather for maturing wheat and rapid spread of harvesting operations were chiefly responsible for a downward readjustment in prices to a new crop basis last week says the Kansas City Star. By far the most conspicuous loss was in the better grade of milling wheat, which, after commanding high premioums since last fall, experienced a sudden let-up in demand and showed declines ranging to 31 cents. Choice dark hard wheat, which brought $1.25 yesterday was quoted at $1.56 a week ago.

The future market followed a lower trend, but weakness as much less pronounced. The July price dropped to a slight discount under September, and December increased its premium over the latter at some markets, though prices are not yet on a carrying-charge basis.

Future prices closed yesterday with losses of about 3 cents for July, 1½ to 2 1-8 cents for September, and ½ to 1 1-4 cents for December. At one time prices were down 4 to 6 cents. The market was nervous, responding at times to reports of demage from excessive heat, liberal receipts at some winter markets, and the irregural export demand. Rallies were frequent, but as a rule they were not maintained long. Trade was fairly active.

New Wheat Movement Starting.

The first scattered shipments from the new crop were reported in Oklahoma and Texas last week, which is probably a few days earlier than usual. A car from the former state is expected to reach Kansas City tomorrow or by Tuesday at the latest and a few others are expected to follow the latter part of the week. Last season the first car from the now crop was received here pune 20, about the same time as this season. Two years ago the first shipment arrived July 1. The first loadings in Southern Kansas will probably be reported the latter part of this week.

Wheat cutting in general in Oklahoma and Texas and has made a good start in Southern Kansas. First, reports regarding quality and yield have been up to earlier expectations for the most part, but have been too scattered to be of much value.

High temperatures prevailed in all the grain area last week and were the basis of occasional reports of damage to wheat in some sections, but the general opinion was that damage from this cause would be small. Wheat needs plenty of sunshine while it is ripening.

Rainfall was limited to scattered showers, chiefly in Nebraska and the territory to the east, where, as a rule it was needed the most.

Reports regarding the progress of the spring wheat crop continued generally favorable. Temperatures were not as extreme as in that section and moderate rains fell. A few reports of rust were in circulation, but did not receive much attention.

The preponderance of evidence is that the winter wheat crop will considerably exceed official estimates.

The first official estimate of the Canadian wheat acreage is 22,464,000 acres, a decrease of 794,000 acres from the area harvested last year. Private reports regarding the condition favorable in tone.

Increased Foreign Demand.

The decline in prices stimulated foreign demand a little last week and sales of about 6 million bushels were reported in all positions, moch of which went to southern European countries and to Germany. Sales included some from the Gulf ports of both nearby and deferred deliveries, though the bulk probably was from the wheat recently sent in Chicago for May deliveries. At the same time England was credited with extensive reselling. The Liverpool market was weak, closing yesterday with losses of 2 1-4 to 3 2-4 pence for the week.

Exports of wheat and flour from the United states and Canada last week, as reported by Bradstreet's were 4,378,000 bushels, compared with 6,884,000 bushels a year ago. Less than half was from this country, according to recent reports by the bureau of markets.

Foreign demand for Argentine wheat was reported dull and prices at Buenos Aires generally sagged. Exports last week were fairly liberal, 3,051,000 bushels, compared with 1,518,000 bushels in the week before, and 1,627,000 bushels a year ago.

In most European countries the condition of the wheat crop is reported good. In France and Germany prospects are not up to the average, but elsewhere they are above the average, according to the reports to the department of agriculture.

Receipts Comparatively Larger.

Receipts of wheat at the principal markets last week were 3,538 cars, an increase of 45 per cent over the preceding week and 21 per cent less than a year ago. Most of the increase was at Kansas City and the northwest. Wichita, Salina and Hutchinson had increasel supplies also, while other winter markets reported moderate receipts. Country advices indicated that the approach of harvest is causing farmers to hurry with the marketing of their surplus from last season.

Kansas City receipts last week, 1,-274 cars, were close to the record for this time of the year. The total was more than twice as much as in the preceding week and was 12 per cent larger than a year ago, when there also was a big movement at the end of the season. Three years ago receipts for the week were 72 cars and four years ago only 12 cars.

Choice Wheat Down 9 to 31 cents

Dullness characterized the trade in carlots, with large declines in the better grades quoted nearly every day, independent of the action of futures. Mill buyers who for a long time have competed for the better grades showed diminishing interest with new crop offerings expected soon. Compared with a week ago, dark hard wheat yesterday was down 18 to 31 cents and hard wheat as down 9 to 28 cents, the better grades shoing the full decline. Red wheat declined 9 to 12 cents.

Elevator stocks of wheat in Kansas City made a further moderate decrease last week, 193,000 bushels, and now are 1,811,206 bushels, compared with only 249,000 bushels a year ago.

Trade in flour continued dull, buyers taking moderate quantities for nearby requirements as has been the case for a month or so. A moderate revival in demand is still expected when the wheat market shows signs of reaching a more stable basis. Stocks in all positions are reported low. Expert inquiry is dull. Trade in mill feed is unsatisfactory, with prices low.

Kansas City mills made 89,400 barrels more than in the preceding week and 24,900 barrels more than a year ago. The output represented 77.8 per cent of capacity.

Corn Prices Unsettled.

Corn futures followed an irregular course at the close yesterday, showing losses of 3-8 to 1-2 cent for July while September was steady to ½ cent lower and December was up 1-4 to 7-8 cent. The market at one time as down ½ to 1 3-4 cents.

Foreign demand was moderate, sales in all positions not exceeding 2 million bushels. Exports last week were 2,606,000 bushels, a decrease of 781,000 bushels from the preceding week and slightly more than a year ago. Argentine shipments were moderate, 1,296,000 bushels.

Crop comment for the most part was favorable. Parts of the eastern and northern states which were needing moisture received showers last week though an extensive area will need rain soon.

The four principal markets received 2,521 cars of corn last week, a decrease of 31 per cent from the preceding week and 21 per cent less than a year ago. Most of the decrease was at Chicago, though all markets reported smaller arrivals.

Carlot demand was less active than formerly, despite the reduced arrivals, the prices for most grades followed a lower trend. Compared with a week ago, hite and mixed corn yesterday were ½ to 1½ cents lower and yellow was unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Weakness prevailed in oats futures, the close yesterday showing losses of 2 1-4 cent in Kansas City for the week and 1½ to 2 1-4 cents in Chicago. Receipts at the principal markets were slightly smaller than in the preceding week. Carlot prices declined 1 to 2½ cents.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 17.—This has beeen a week of relapse in stocks, in grain, in cotton and in foreign exchange, with nothing to account for the downward movement except the phrase, "natural reaction."

Recent advances in stocks and in commodities have brought about a situation of readjustment. Persons who recall the low quotations of last year in stocks, and in some commodities that have had a big recovery, are inclined to think the present level of prices is too high and there is both hesitancy in buying and increased selling in consequence.

The stock market showed more weakness than for many months past, experiencing almost a collapse Monday and another slump Thursday. Final prices today were above the week's low level, but substantially below the recent highs, averaging about three points for the week on industrials and nearly two points on the railroad list.

Trade Improvement Goes On

The stock market just at present is not functioning well as a barometer of trade. There is nothing the matter with business that would account for the recent relapse in prices. At the present time the production in principal manufacturing industries is larger than for many months past, and is increasing. The trade reviews show expanding retail and wholesale business. The progress of the crops is encouraging. The railroads are showing substantial increases in traffic over the reward of last year. The money situation contains no suggestion of any disturbance. Nevertheless the stock market is acting as if a business setback were impending, or actually starting.

The facts seem to be that the stock market recovery from last year's low ebb proceeded faster than the industrial recovery and is now undergoing a period of uncertainty. Apparently most men who bought at last year's low levels appear to have taken profits and present speculative holders in the main have comparatively narrow margins and have not the confidence necessary for a strong market.

There is a similar situation in some of the commodity markets where recessions have occurred and where the present tendency is downward.

Perhaps one reason for the decline in stocks is the growing belligerency of labor forces. Until recently the stock market has ignored the labor situation. The prolonged strike of coal miners and New England cotton mill operators made no impression on it. The initial rumblings of railroad employees was likewise ignored. This week, however, brought indications that a large preponderence of railroad employes are in a humor to strike against the wage reductions effective July 1, that have been authorized by the labor board. It is not likely that business can hold up if union labor on the railroads quits work. Unemployment is less now than for many months and railroads will find it difficult to replace strikers. The railroad employees appear to have the entire American Federation of Labor back of them and seem to be in a position to make the strike effective.

Recent wage increases in a few industries have encouraged wage earners to believe that the downward tendency in wages has culminated.

Foreign exchange markets have been more depressed this week than for a long time past. Here, as in the stock market, the decline seems more like a relapse from an extended rise than a decline due to changed finance or trade conditions. The only development directly bearing on foreign exchange rates was a reduction in the Bank of England discount rate to 3 1-2 per cent and that normally would have a tendency to put exchange rates up rather than down. Possibly there was some selling based on disappointment over the failure of the Paris financial conference to accomplish any results, though there was little expectations among bankers here that anything could be accomplished toward an international loan to Germany.

When the stock market after a long rise, starts to decline, if it follows the usual rule, it will loss about one-third of the advance. Up to Monday of this week the stock market had been advancing since last August without a break of as much as three points. The advance for this period which with the exception for 1904 was the longest on record, averaged for the industrials about 32 points. If the usual rule is followed therefore there should be an average decline of something like 10 points in the industrials before the bottom is reached. If the markets do decline that much the opinion prevails here that if crops and general trade turn out as now expected there will be another "bull" market for stocks starting in the late summer or early autumn.—Kansas City Star.

NEW PITCHERS REPORT TO LINKS FOR SERIES AT HASTINGS

PITCHERS REPORT TO MANAGER BUCK

Jepson and Owen Show Up at Hastings and Ready to Hurl for Links.

Rained Out Sunday, Cubs and Links Clash Monday in Doubleheader.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., June 19.—Rained out of their game with the Cubs yesterday—the first Sunday postponement of the season in the Nebraska league—the Links today gave a warm welcome to a pair of pitching acquisitions and consider themselves in improved trim for the doubleheader which Manager Harry Smith and the Hastings club magnates have announced for this afternoon. The new flingers who reported to Manager Buck Beltzer today are Jepson, a southpaw from Kansas, and Slim Owen, a right-hander from western Nebraska. Either Jepson or Owen will hurl one of the games on today's twin bill, while Hook Bailey will round out the pitching card in the other combat of the double program.

Two Clubs After Fussell.

In his drive for pitching talent, Manager Buck also is on the trail of an additional pair of Kansas slab artists and is hopeful of landing goods before Links return home Wednesday to inaugurate a three-game series with the Fairbury Coyotes—a series which may have an important bearing on the outcome of the first split-season race in the State loop.

It is persistently rumored in Hastings circles that Manager Harry Smith is working on a scheme to enlist the services of Pitcher Lefty Fussell, sensational southpaw with the Exeter independents. Manager Beltzer likewise aspires to snare the services of Fussell and he believes the Links have the inside track, as Fussell is under pledge to join the Lincoln club in event he decides to get into organized ball.

With Bailey, Gibson, Owen and Jepson in line for slab duty during the Hastings series, Manager Buck is doubly hopeful of pulling down two victories in the three games.

Segrist Fines Coyote Player.

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 19.—George Segrist, owner of the Fairbury club, announced today that he had slapped a fine of $25 on Third Baseman Cleveland, Fairbury player who mixed with Outfielder Palmatiere of Grand Island in a fistic rumpus during yesterday's game at the local park. The Fairbury magnate declared he would not stand for rowdyism on the field, but suggested that he could not be expected to wage a single-handed campaign for clean baseball, meaning that it is up to the Grand Island club to discipline Palmatiere by soaking him with a fine.

The Grand Island management has served notice on League President Miles that it has protested yesterday's game. Palmatiere, who clashed with Cleveland at third base, was touched with the ball when off the base and declared out by Umpire Snyder. The Islanders claim that no play could be made on Palmatiere, as Umpire Snyder was announcing the substitution of a pinch-hitter for Grand Island when the fuss at third was going on and the play on Palmatiere was made. The protest will be put up to the league directors.

Fussell Smothers Friend While Exeter Wallops 22 Blows

(Special to The Star.)

FRIEND, Neb., June 19.—Persistence of the Exeter batsmen in pounding the ball to all corners of the pasture and the uncanny effectiveness of Lefty Fussell were dominant factors in the humiliating defeat of Friend, 16 to 2, in Sunday's pastiming combat at the Friend park.

Four flingers toiled on the mound for Friend and the Exeter team harvested a total of 22 hits. Purdy with five clean singles and home run drives by Welsh and Jiggs Barber, which netted seven runs, were the chief features of the Exeter offensive.

Fussell had Friend's number the moment he went on the slab. The Exeter sidewheeler held the home athletes to three hits and struck out ten. Friend scored one run in the opening frame and did not again cross the plate until the ninth. The score by innings:

Exeter	2	1	0	0	4	2	4	3	0—16
Friend	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1— 2

Batteries—Fussell and Tollifson; Closman, Cheesman, Novak, Earlywine and Murphy. Umpire—Clint Neff of Utica.

Royce of Bennett Hurls No-Hitter Against Adams

(Special to The Star.)

BENNET, Neb., June 19.—Royce of Bennet shut out Adams without hit or run yesterday, Bennet winning, 3 to 0, in seven innings. Rain stopped the game after the seventh. Royce turned in a string of twelve strikeouts. Bennet will play a return game next Sunday at Adams. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Adams	000 000 0—0	0	6
Bennet	000 021 0—3	4	0

Batteries — Price and Ehman; Royce and Olson.

Printers Defeat Greenwood Team

GREENWOOD, Neb., June 19.—In a heavy hitting contest yesterday the Lincoln Printers walloped Greenwood, 9 to 5. Delsell had the better of a pitching duel with Trumble. Five home runs featured the contest, the Printers getting three of the circuit wallops.

Batteries. Printers—Delsell and Petty; Greenwood — Trumble and Burke.

The Lincoln Printers are anxious to schedule a game for the fourth of July with some fast team in the state. Managers wishing to book the Printers should communicate with Manager J. L. Stroud, care of Lincoln Star, or C. D. Lillard, 631 North Twenty-fifth street, phone B-2258.

Manager Charley Dake's American Legion baseball pastimers galloped into a tie with the Printers for first place in the Capital City league Sunday afternoon when the ex-soldiers soundly trounced the College View teams, 13 to 0, in an exhibition at Landis Field.

While the Legionnaires were winning out the Lawlor Sports continued to crowd close to the leaders by handing the Bracelin Painters a 14 to 7 trimming at Rock Island park.

In the curtain-raiser at Landis Field, the Fraternal Order of Eagles tightened their talons on the Commercial league gonfalon by turning back the Lincoln Barbers, 13 to 1. At Rock Island park, the Telephones registered a first victory at the expense of Modern Woodmen 916.

The Capital City league combat at Landis Field was a distinct triumph for the Legionnaires. Harry Wigg, who was serving the benders for the Legionnaires, pitched shutout ball. Only one College View player saw second base and nary a suburbanite advanced to the third sack. Wigg struck out ten men and poled three hits including a two-ply wallop.

Ullstrom Busy Hitter.

Frank Ullstrom was the busy clouter of the afternoon. He rapped four safeties in five trips to the plate, getting a three-base blow in his collection. Rees peg to the plate, which caught Williams before he crossed the platter, was the feature of the College View play.

The Eagles found the Barbers easy. Tobin, Eagle southpaw, had the torsorial artists at his mercy, setting thirteen down by the air route and allowing but four stingy hits. A threebase hit by Angell, who scored on Hilgart's infield out, spoiled a shutout game.

The Telephones registered a victory over the Modern Woodmen 916 team at Rock Island park. The game was a battle until the sixth inning, when the Modern Woodmen threw away their axes and permitted the Hello-Boys to run wild on the sacks. The Telephones won by a 11 to 1 score.

The Bracelins and Lawlors staged a merry chase in the Capital City contest, the Lawlors winning, 14 to 7. Schellenberg, Lawlor center gardener, rapped out two home runs. Bradley, Bracelin centerfielder, lost the ball in tall grass with two on base in the first inning, counting three scores. The official scores:

Touching the Bases

Ken Williams cut another notch in his home run bat and the St. Louis Browns jumped a game and a half ahead of the field, the former by socking his seventeenth homer, the latter by beating the Athletics, 5 to 3.

The Pirates pulled out a 2 to 0 victory over the Dodgers in a game shortened to six innings by rain.

When Sheely obliged with a muff of Brower's high fly in the ninth, Rice sped home from second with the only run of a great pitchers' battle between Walter Johnson and Urban Faber.

The limping Yanks lost their seventh straight game when Hoyt was bumped off the premises in the first inning, and Murray, his immediate successor, failed to succeed, the Indians winning, 9 to 2.

With Collegian Oleson pitching great ball, the Tigers knocked the Red Sox for a series of marcel waves, 8 to 1.

The Giants were getting around to the matter of making threatening gestures at the pitching of Bill Pertica, when the deluge came and the game reverted to the fifth inning, with the Cards leading, 4 to 2.

Seward won the game in the twelfth when Rody Lamb was safe on an error. Pickering got a single and Lamb scored on Schamberg's hit. Lamb holed a three-base hit in the first inning.

Seward will play at Columbus next Sunday. Score by innings:

Holdrege Tennis Season Under Way

(Special to The Star.)

HOLDREGE, June 19.—With the assigning of ranking positions to the leading ten players, the tennis season here started with a rush. As no preliminary tournament was held, places were awarded according to the record of last year's play.

Snob II Splits Foot; Out of Race On Latonia Track

NEW YORK, Jnue 19.—As the owners of Morvich and Pillory, two of the leading three year olds of the turf world, made ready to ship their charges for the Latona special, to be held next Saturday, the $55,000 colt, Snob II, was pronounced unfit to go to the post. Snob II split one of his front feet in running a disappointing third behind Whiskaway and Morvich in the Criton stakes Saturday at Aqueduct. Whiskaway it is said, will be shipped to Latonia later in the week.

Mexican Murders American Citizen

WASHINGTON, Jne 19.—Warren D. Harvey, an American citizen, was murdered by bandits on Saturday, five miles out of Tampico, Mexico, the American consul at Tampico today notified the state department.

Harvey was a paymaster for an American oil company.

The usual representations have been made to the government of Mexico city, and the authorities have promised an investigation.

WHITNEY'S COLT IN RECORD TIME

Conqueror of Morvich Set New Mark for Half-Mile In Saturday Race.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 19.—Morvich, no longer "the unbeaten," was expected to leave today in his special car for Latonia, Ky. There, in a special $50,000 race next Saturday against the cream of the three-year old thoroughbreds, he will seek to regain the prestige he lost when he was beaten badly Saturday by Harry Payne Whitney's Whiskaway in the Carlton stakes at Aqueduct.

Whiskaway, with an advantage of fifteen pounds over Morvich in the weights, never was threatened, after taking the lead at the start, and won with a margin of eight lengths in the fast time of 1:36 3-5 for the mile.

Snob II, J. Cosden's French bred colt, a poor third, pulled up lame and was found to have a split front foot, which will prevent him from competing at Latonia. He will not run for some time.

Whiskaway Super-Horse.

The explanation of Morvich's defeat, on his thirteenth start, is given in one word—speed. Whiskaway was too fast for him. The handicap in weights undoubtedly had its effect on the showing of the Block colt, but it would have taken more than a super-horse to match the pace Whiskaway set from the barrier to finish. Clocked in 45 seconds at the half mile, the Whitney colt was more than a second faster than the American record for this distance, 46 1-5 seconds, and finished the mile just a second slower than the American record 1:35 3-5, set by Audacious.

Morvich, after getting off to a poor start, rallied and for a time kept within striking distance of the flying Whiskaway, but never closed the gap. In the final sprint, the rival drew rapidly away.

Whiskaway, as well as Pillory, winner of the rich Preakness and Belmont stakes, is expected to enter the Latonia special this week and at even weights with Morvich.

American Golfer Shows Low Score In British Open

SANDWICH, England, June 19.—Jock Hutchinson of Chicago took up today the mighty task of defending his title of British open golf champion against the field of 225 entries that started in the annual titular tourney. It is generally admitted, even among the Americans here, that Jock's task is a more than difficult one.

Indeed, many experts look upon Walter Hagen, the debonaire fashion plate of the American links, as the most dangerous Yankee entry, though Jim Barnes, the American open champion, has his supporters also.

C. La VanVleck, amateur, from Garden City the other American entry, is not regarded as being dangerous.

Among the Britons, Abe Mitchell and George Duncan are playing the highest grade of golf at the moment and are looked upon as the mainstays of the defense. Joe Kirkwood the Australian champion, is also in top form and stands in high favor with the experts.

The qualifying rounds will be played today and tomorrow, each entry playing eighteen holes at the Royal St. George's and eighteen at the Prince's course.

Hagen's card was the best up to the luncheon hour. He returned a 37-38-75, driving with amazing length and accuracy. He had hard luck on the greens, however his ball jumping out of the cup no less than four times.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

The In-law Question.

Dear Minerva: My husband's mother makes us a visit of several months every year. She is quite feeble because of poor health. I am as good to her as I know how to be even pet and humor her to keep her in good spirits because I know that is what she needs. But my problem is this. She has a very domineering nature and a bad temper and I am afraid to hurt her. We have two children, both boys and it is this that worries me. She is continually finding fault and having trouble with the children until I can scarcely manage them. She has a habit of using bad language (swear words) which I have never allowed my boys to use but when they hear it continually from her they soon pick it up. I overheard my youngest son of seven say to her "Grandma, you said a naughty word," whereupon she flew into a rage because she said he was talking back to her and that kind of words was not swearing, but they were not merely slang words they were ugly swear words of the worst kind. And at the table when I speak to them about their manners she tells me to let them alone as long as they can eat better that way, as I only want them to put on style and such things were never heard of when she was young. She continually nags at them until they have no respect for her. One of them told her he would be glad when she went away. She is always finding fault with them. I have never said anything to her about it and try my best to keep peace between them but it seems the short time she is with us she undoes everything I accomplish. I must simply let her have her way about everything even though I don't approve. I always make the children mind her. My husband does not realize what I put up with as he is only home for meals and at night when the children are all in bed. But he can't get along with her himself.

Now what I want to know is this. Am I doing right in humoring her and letting her have her own way about everything or shall I stand up for my rights even though I know it will cause trouble. I would like to keep peace in the family for I do hate to quarrel but I want my boys to be nice and I can't even keep them at home while she is here. But am I doing my duty? Is my first duty to her or to my children? I want to be a Christian and overlook people's faults, but am I doing right in overlooking her faults when it means so much to my children. Please tell me what I should do.—WORRIED MOTHER.

A. There are so few issues in life on which a clear-cut decision may be made it is seldom easy to say now my duty lies here, without feeling a doubt that the decision is just.

You owe a duty to the old as well as to the young, to the mother who has given her best years to raising her children, as well as to the children whose manners and morals are your responsibility. I believe the only settlement is the usual compromise to make the best of the situation and do the best you can for all. Your motherin-law must be a "Ma Pett ingill" sort of a person, but though she is rough and ready she is no doubt well meaning and at any rate her old age in itself demands respect and consideration. Teach the children to respect and honor their grandmother but to obey their mother. Not an easy thing to do, I'll admit. But let that be your aim. Content yourself with a compromise, doing the best you can for both.

A Lament in Verse.

Dear Minerva thought you'd be
Kind enough to hear my plea
I very often read your lines
And comment on them many times.

Most your answers hit the mark
Concerning spooners in the park
And etcetera, but believe me
Things like that don't interest me

My mind soars to higher things,
But like a bird with broken wings
I cannot reach the heights I see
Which seem to always beckon me.

I'm a tiller of the soil
For my bread I dig and toil
All that life for me holds dear
Is somewhere else—it's never here.

I came out here away from friends
Where work begins and romance ends
I left my home and city life
To be a kind and loving wife.

Guess 'twas one of nature's pranks
To create me chief of all cranks
I can grumble—I can roar
And all because I'm just plain sore

On winter evenings I opine
That such a simple life is mine.
I long to make my name a word
Round every hearthstone to be heard

I don't like this life of mine
I want dresses that are fine
Time to fix myself up sweet
And also time to gad the street.

Now I rise an hour 'fore six
Start my day by feeling chix

DROOPING BRIMS MAKE STRONG BID FOR POPULARITY

Above is a hat of red milan trimmed with field flowers and fruit. Below is an orchid taffeta sports hat embroidered in colors.

Hoe the garden, mow the lawn,
All this I do in early dawn.

I feed the calves, I slop the hogs
Feed the cats and then the dogs,
Milk the cows, give the horses hay
And that's the way I start my day.

I churn and bake, I sweep and scrub
And on wash day I always rub, rub, rub
For the farmers clothes are thick with soil
Which makes wash day a day of toil

My one sound advice to a farmer is this
If he is seeking domestic bliss
Before you lead your fair wife to the altar
Make sure she has the strength of the Rock of Gibralter.

"O the farmer's life is the life for me,"
Was written by one with insanity
Don't tell me to like it and try to be cheery
For you don't know only half of it dearie.

P S. Why can't I be brilliant like you,
Like Hinman or Watson or Black.
I'd rather have brains in my head,
Than all kinds of brawn in my back

Ignorant: Any article for the house is appropriate for a wedding gift and should be sent to the home of the bride's parents a few days before the wedding

Hopeful Invalid: I am sorry but I cannot give you any information regarding a proprietary article such as you ask about

L L G: Most families prefer to have the heavy meal in the evening thus it is lunch" at noon and "dinner" in the evening However it is quite as good form to have the heavy meal at noon, when preferred, then it is "dinner" at noon and "supper" in the evening. It is merely a matter of choice and there is no social rule about it. There are people who are cultured and refined who prefer their "dinner" at noon, and those equally particular who prefer to have "dinner" in the evening.

Revolt Against Soviets Breaks In Veronesch District

LONDON, June 19.—Revolution against the soviet government has broken out at Buturlinov, in the province of Veronesch, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today, quoting a report received there from Helsingfors.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.
